The Journals, when so signed, shall be the official records of the proceedings of the Senate.*

8 (e). *The Clerk of the Senate shall prepare a list of the Senators in order of seniority. Seniority shall be based upon longest continuous service in the Senate. However, if a Senator has previous interrupted service in the Senate, then the beginning date of such previous Senate service shall qualify the Senator for seniority before those Senators elected at the same time not having previous service in the Senate, and if a Senator has previous service in the House of Delegates then the beginning date of such House service shall qualify the Senator to seniority before those Senators elected to the Senate at the same time not having previous service in the House of Delegates. 8 (f). *The Clerk of the Senate, after the election of Senators, shall assign chamber desks to the individual Senators with the Senators elected as members of the majority party in the Senate in the chamber area beginning at the south side of the chamber until all such desks have been assigned, and then the Senators elected as members of the minority party in the Senate, and then any Senator not elected as a member of the two major political parties. Senator. However, the chamber desk or office space of a Senator having immediate prior service in the Senate shall not be reassigned unless he shall so request the Clerk of the Senate.

Should any Senator, however, during his term of office, cease to be a member of the political party of which he was a member at the time of his election or if a special election results in a change of political party membership, the Clerk of the Senate, upon such change in political party membership, is authorized to reassign chamber desks and office space accordingly.

8 (g). The area of the General Assembly Building assigned to the members of the Senate, their legislative support staff, the staff of the Senate, the facilities and space for those charged with the maintenance, repair, and security of such building, and such space designated for the news media shall not be utilized or occupied as office space by any other person or persons, except by vote of the Committee on Rules.

8 (h). During the sessions, the Clerk shall provide postage and office supplies for official use by the Senators. A newsletter is a written communication that is more than one page in length, the contents cover more than one topic, and 500 or more copies are requested to be printed in a calendar year.

9. The Journal of the Senate shall be daily drawn up by the Clerk of the Senate, and shall be read the succeeding day, unless the reading thereof is waived as provided in these Rules; it shall be printed under the supervision of the Clerk of the Senate and delivered to the Senators without delay.

10. The Clerk may also appoint such number of messengers as may be required. The Clerk of the Senate shall also appoint such committee clerks as may be necessary after consultation with, and the approval of, the Chairmen of the several Committees. All committee clerks so appointed shall remain in the Capitol or other legislative facilities during the daily sessions of the Senate, and committee clerks shall be assigned for duties with various standing Committees by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation by the Clerk of the Senate and with the approval of the Chairman of each such Committee. Each clerk shall perform any other duties that the Clerk of the Senate shall require, when not employed by their respective standing Committees. Clerks may be removed by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with, and the approval of, the Chairman of the Committee to which such clerk is assigned. The Clerk of the Senate shall have supervision over all employees of the Senate. During sessions, the Clerk shall provide postage and office supplies for official use by the Senators.

10 (a). The Clerk of the Senate shall be the clerk to the Committee on Rules.

11 (a). Before reading each bill or resolution by title, the Clerk of the Senate shall announce, either by individual bill or resolution or en bloc, whether it is the first, second, or third time of such reading.

11 (b). The Clerk of the Senate shall keep at the Clerk's desk, during the sittings of the Senate, a calendar which shows the business of the Senate. The Clerk shall have printed and placed on the desk of each member; before the assembling of the Senate each day, a calendar of pending bills and resolutions. The Clerk shall prepare a list of all bills and resolutions offered on the preceding day, with the names of the patrons, titles of the bills or resolutions, and the Committees to which the same have been referred under these Rules.

12. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Senate, without special order therefor, to communicate to the House of Delegates any action of the Senate upon business coming from the House of Delegates, or upon matters requiring the concurrence of that body, but no such communication shall be made in relation to any action of the Senate while it remains open for consideration.

13. The Clerk of the Senate shall, at the beginning of the term after the election of Senators, have printed and bound with the manual and rules, etc., the Constitution of Virginia and the Constitution of the United States for the use of the Senators. Supplements to said manual shall be issued as circumstances may require.

14 (a). Whenever the Clerk of the Senate is absent, the deputy appointed pursuant to law and these Rules shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed upon the Clerk of the Senate by law and these Rules, by and with the consent of the Committee on Rules.

14 (b). In the discharge of all the duties assigned to the Clerk, and such other duties as the Clerk may from time to time undertake, the Clerk shall be subject to the direction of the Committee on Rules.

It shall review and report as may be required in cases involving financial disclosure statements and shall recommend disciplinary action by majority vote where appropriate. It shall report in all cases involving contested elections the principles and reasons upon which their resolves are founded. It shall determine and report on all matters referred to it by the Senate Ethics Advisory Panel as set forth in the statutes.*

Whenever the Clerk receives a report of the Senate Ethics Advisory Panel or a resolution seeking the reprimand, censure, or expulsion of a Senator, he shall refer it forthwith to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. The Committee shall consider the matter, conduct such hearings as it shall deem necessary, and, in all cases report its determination of the matter, together with its recommendations and reasons for its resolves, to the Senate. If the Committee deems disciplinary action warranted, it shall report a resolution offered by a member of the Committee to express such action. Any such resolution reported by the Committee shall be a privileged matter. The Senate as a whole shall then consider the resolution, and, by recorded vote, either (i) defeat the resolution or take one or more of the following actions; (ii) by a majority vote of the Senators present and voting, reprimand the Senator; (iii) by a majority vote of the elected membership of the Senate, censure the Senator and strip the Senator of seniority, so that the Senator shall be last; (iv) by a two-thirds vote of the elected membership of the Senate, expel the Senator; (v) in the event the Senate finds a knowing violation of § 30-108 or subsection C of § 30-110 of the Code of Virginia, by a majority vote of the Senators present and voting, refer the matter to the Attorney General for such action as the Attorney General shall deem appropriate.

The Chair of the Committee on Rules shall not be Chair of any standing Committee. The Committee shall consider all resolutions amending or altering the Rules of the Senate; all joint rules with the House of Delegates; all bills and resolutions creating study committees or commissions; and all other resolutions except those of a purely procedural nature, those concerning nominations and appointments to any office or position in the Commonwealth including the nominations of Justices and Judges, and those concerning constitutional amendments. The Committee may report such bills or resolutions with the recommendation that they be passed, or that they be rereferred to another Committee. In considering a bill or resolution, the Committee is empowered to sit while the Senate is in session. There shall be a subcommittee of the Committee consisting of the Chair and six members appointed by the Chair which shall exercise on behalf of the Committee such powers as are delegated to the Committee when acting jointly with the Committee on Rules of the House of Delegates or a subcommittee thereof.

19 (b). If there is any objection as to the referral by the Clerk of the Senate of any bill or resolution to any standing Committee or any matter relating to the Office of the Clerk, the Committee on Rules shall hear the same, resolve the issue and report to the Senate.

It shall prescribe the duties not otherwise prescribed for the Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeepers.

19 (d). The Committee on Rules shall from time to time prescribe such requirements as will expedite the flow of the work of the Senate, all such requirements being subject to the approval of the Senate.

19 (e). Postage provided for use by members of the Senate during Sessions of the General Assembly shall be used as necessary to carry out the legislative duties of such members, and shall not be used for the purpose of mailing newsletters. A newsletter is a written communication that is more than one page in length, the contents cover more than one topic, and 500 or more copies are requested to be printed in a calendar year.

19 (f). The Chair of the Committee on Rules shall appoint a subcommittee to review the financial disclosure statements filed annually by members or candidates and shall determine whether each statement is correct and complete as filed or requires correction, augmentation, or revision by the member or candidate involved, who shall be directed in writing to make the changes required within such time as shall be set by the Committee.

Additional review shall be made of any financial disclosure statement by the Committee on Rules upon a request in writing by ten percent of the membership of the Senate on the basis of newly discovered evidence. This review shall be made promptly, the adequacy of filing determined, and notice of the determination of the Committee sent in writing to the member involved. If a financial disclosure statement is found to need correction, augmentation, or revision, the member or candidate involved shall be directed in writing to make the changes required within such time as shall be set by the Committee.

19 (g). There shall be a Subcommittee on Standards of Conduct of the Committee on Rules, consisting of three members, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party, appointed by the Chair. The Subcommittee shall consider any request by a Senator for an advisory opinion as to whether the facts in a particular case would constitute a violation of the Rules of the Senate or any statute enacted relative to conflicts of interests, and may consider any other matters assigned to it by the Committee on Rules. Any Senator requesting such an advisory opinion shall submit the request in writing, addressed to the Chair of the Committee on Rules, and shall set forth specifically the facts relative to the opinion sought. The Subcommittee shall convene as soon as practicable, granting the Senator requesting the opinion the right to appear and, upon the conclusion of its deliberations, the Subcommittee shall submit its written opinion to the full Committee on Rules. The Committee on Rules shall consider the written opinion submitted by the Subcommittee and, if accepted, the same shall constitute an advisory opinion for the conduct of the members of the Senate on the issues set forth. The Clerk of the Senate shall maintain a record of such advisory opinions, which shall be available to any member of the Senate.

19 (h). Any Senator who wishes to present a person to the Senate shall first seek the approval of the Committee on Rules. The Senator shall submit a written request to the Chair of the Committee and a copy of the request to the Clerk of the Senate, 48 hours prior to the time of the presentation. The Committee or a subcommittee designated by the Chair shall determine the merit of the presentation and notify the Senator of its decision. The submission of the written request and the approval of the Committee or a subcommittee designated by the Chair shall not be required to present members of the Virginia Congressional Delegation and former members of the Virginia Senate. Whenever possible, a person shall be presented to the Senate on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the morning hour of the session.

19 (i). The Committee on Rules shall make all Senate appointments to study committees and commissions in the number authorized for the Senate, whether the authority is limited to Senate members or other persons. It shall appoint members of the Senate to such other committees as may be required to serve as joint committees with the House of Delegates under its Rules, and shall appoint members of the Senate to serve as Senate members on any Committee or Commission required by statute. If no member of a standing Committee of the Senate specified in a study resolution is able to serve, the Committee on Rules may appoint a member of the Senate at large to the study notwithstanding the provisions of the enabling resolution.

VIII.

Composition and Procedures of Committees.

20 (a). The total membership of all Committees and the membership of each standing Committee shall be composed of members of the two major political parties in the Commonwealth in proportion to the number of Senators of each of such political parties, as nearly as practicable, and as nearly as practicable with equal membership of resident Senators from the several congressional districts of the Commonwealth as the same exist on the date of election of the Senate. As nearly as practicable, no more than two resident Senators in the same congressional district shall serve on the same Committee. However, if none of the resident Senators of the same congressional district makes a request, in writing, for a particular Committee assignment, this requirement may be waived. No member shall be removed from the Committee to which he or she was elected, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected or by forfeiture under these rules.

The standing Committees may also include any Senator not elected as a member of the two major political parties. All members of the Senate shall be elected to the standing Committees, where practicable. No member of the Senate shall serve on more than four, nor less than three, standing Committees. When the Committees are elected, the Senator first named shall be the Chair. However, a Senator shall serve as Chair of only one of the standing Committees. Next shall be listed the members, listed by seniority and by the date elected to the Committee.

Should any Senator, during his term of office, cease to be a member of the political party of which he was a member at the time of his election, he shall be deemed, thereby, to have forfeited all Committee memberships to which he may have been elected.

20 (b). Any vacancy in Committee membership during the four-year term of the Committee members shall be filled in the manner in which Committee members are elected in the first instance.

20 (c). The standing Committees shall meet at such time and place as shall be designated by the Committee on Rules, after consultation with the respective Committee Chair, and the fixed time and place of Committee meetings shall be published.

20 (d). All Committee meetings shall be held in public.

However, executive sessions may be held pursuant to applicable provisions of law upon a recorded vote. Except as provided herein, a recorded vote of members upon each measure shall be taken and the name and number of those voting for, against or abstaining reported with the bill or resolution and ordered printed on the Calendar. A recorded vote shall not be necessary to report a resolution, if that resolution does not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules. A Senator who has a personal interest in the transaction, as defined in § 30-101 of the Code of Virginia, shall neither vote nor be counted upon it, and he shall withdraw, or invoke this Rule not to be counted, prior to the taking of any vote upon it, by stating the same before the Committee, and the fact shall be recorded by the Committee Clerk and reported along with the votes of the Committee members on the bill or resolution. If a Senator invokes this rule, the Senator shall not participate, directly or indirectly, in the matter wherein the rule is invoked. Pairs may be taken in Committee voting as provided in Rule 36.

20 (e). The majority of any Committee shall constitute a quorum. Any Senator attending and recorded as present at a Committee meeting who must depart prior to the rising of the Committee, may designate, in writing, one member of the Committee to vote his proxy for the duration of his absence, but for no longer than the meeting of the Committee at which the proxy is given. Proxies are not transferable. The Chair shall be informed in open session of the proxy authority prior to the departure of the Senator so leaving.

20 (f). Any bill or resolution introduced in an even-numbered year, and not reported to the Senate by a Committee may, upon the majority vote of the elected membership of the Committee to which it has been referred, be continued on the agenda of the Committee for hearings and Committee action during the interim between sessions or for future action by the Committee during the following odd-numbered year regular sessions. A bill or resolution may be continued only one year from an even-numbered year session and not otherwise. The Committee shall report, prior to the adjournment sine die of the Senate, such bills or resolutions as shall be continued and the Clerk of the Senate shall enter upon the Journal the fact that such bill or resolution has been continued.

The Senate, upon consideration of any bill or resolution on the Calendar, may recommit, in accordance with these Rules, the bill or resolution to the Committee reporting the same, and direct the Committee to continue the bill or resolution until the following odd-numbered year regular session, and hold such hearings or render such further consideration of the bill or resolution as the Committee may deem proper.

The Chair of the Committee, or the majority of the elected membership of a Committee, may call meetings of the Committee during the interim between sessions to study, call hearings, and consider any bill or resolution continued for further action at the odd-numbered year session, or to consider such other matters as may be germane to the duties of the Committee.

The provisions of this Rule relating to legislative continuity between sessions shall be subject to the provisions of Article IV, Section 7, of the Constitution of Virginia.

20 (g). Each Committee shall have a clerk appointed by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with the Chair of the Committee, and such Committee counsel or other staff assistants as a majority of the elected membership of the Committee deem necessary. The Clerk of the Senate shall be the clerk to the Committee on Rules.

20 (h). The Chair of any Committee may appoint subcommittees to consider a particular bill or resolution or to consider matters relative to a portion of the work of the Committee. Such subcommittees shall make recommendations to the Committee. The Chair of the full Committee shall be an ex officio member of all subcommittees and entitled to vote, but shall not be counted as a member for purposes of a quorum. All subcommittees shall be governed by the Rules of the Senate.

20 (i). Any Committee of the Senate may, at its discretion, confer with any Committee of the House of Delegates having under consideration the same subject and arrange joint meetings, hearings or studies, as the Committees deem appropriate.

20 (j). A Committee, after considering a bill or resolution referred to it may:

A. Rerefer the same to another Committee, in the same form received, to consider applicable portions of such bill or resolution as are germane to another Committee under the Rules, or may

B. Report it to the Senate

(i) without amendment,

(ii) with recommendation that a Committee amendment(s) be adopted, or

(iii) with recommendation that it be rereferred to another Committee (either with or without amendment), in which latter event the Clerk of the Senate shall so rerefer unless the Senate shall otherwise direct.

A recorded vote of members shall be taken upon any motion listed in A and B above and the name and number of those voting for, against or abstaining reported with the bill or resolution and ordered printed on the Calendar. The report recorded by the Committee clerk shall be the recorded vote on the motion and cannot be changed unless the vote is reconsidered and voted upon again. A recorded vote shall not be necessary to report or rerefer a resolution, if that resolution does not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules.

20 (k). Any bill, except the budget bill sent down by the Governor, whose principal objective is taxation or which establishes a special fund or any type of nonreverting fund, whether or not such bill may also require an appropriation, tax, special or general revenue, shall first be referred to the Standing Committee which has jurisdiction of the subject matter of the bill as defined in rules 18 (a) through 18 (j) of the Rules of the Senate. If said bill is reported by the Committee of original jurisdiction then said bill shall be rereferred by the Committee to the Finance Committee.

20 (l). The Senate members of any committee of conference with the House of Delegates shall be designated by the Chair of the Committee to which the bill or resolution in conference was first referred by the Clerk of the Senate. If a Senate bill or resolution is in conference, the chief patron of the same shall be a first conferee and, where feasible, members of a Committee to which the bill or resolution was referred or rereferred shall comprise the conferees.

Any conference report must be agreed to by the majority of the members of each house on the conference committee before it may be filed with the Senate. If the report of the first named conference is rejected by the Senate or the conferees cannot agree, the Chair shall designate the same or new conferees in the event a second conference is formed.

Conferees shall not insert in their report matters not committed to them by either house, nor shall they strike from the bill or resolution in conference matters agreed to by both houses.

20 (m). Committees of the Senate are authorized to seek and obtain, in the period of time between sessions of the General Assembly, the services of citizens of the Commonwealth whose function will be to participate with such Committees or Subcommittees thereof in reviewing legislation or in performing any referred study or study initiated by the Committee or its Chair.

Persons appointed to serve shall receive reimbursement for their actual and reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of services for the Committees. For this purpose and for such other expenses as may be occasioned by the conduct of any Committee study, payments shall be made from the general appropriation to the Senate.

Persons who are asked by a Committee Chair to appear before a Committee or subcommittee to offer expert testimony may receive reimbursement for their actual and reasonable expenses if approved by the Chair, in consultation with the Clerk.

20 (n). Whenever a bill is introduced that contains matters that would be appropriate for an executive reorganization plan as provided for in Chapter 1, Article 2 of Title 2.2 of the Code of Virginia or which proposes that the Commonwealth provide new services or abolish any existing service, it shall have the word "Organization" stamped upon its covers.

IX.

Order of Business.

21. At the appointed hour, the presiding officer of the Senate shall take the chair and call the Senate to order, and the order of business thereafter shall be as follows:

(a) A period of devotions.

(c) The reading of the Journal.

(d) A period to be called the "morning hour," for the following purposes:

i. to dispose of communications from the House of Delegates, the Executive, and the Judiciary.

ii. to receive reports from the Committees, for which purpose they shall be called by the Clerk unless the Senate shall direct otherwise.

iii. to recognize and welcome visitors to the Senate.

iv. to receive resolutions and bills, but such resolutions and bills may be received at the Clerk's desk at any time after the "morning hour," with leave of the Senate.

(e) Consideration of unfinished business. (Unfinished business is legislation before the Senate as a result of or pending action by the House of Delegates.)

(f) Consideration of the Calendar of the Senate for that day, for which purpose the Calendar shall be called by the Clerk of the Senate.

(g) Upon completion of the Calendar and then Senators expressing Point(s) of Personal Privilege and such other business as may come before the Senate, a recess or adjournment shall then be taken.

22. To expedite the business of the Senate, it may order the convening of a "special morning session," at which session no vote shall be taken or other business transacted except the introduction of bills and resolutions. Upon the completion thereof, such session shall recess to such time as the Senate may have theretofore ordered. Such "special morning session" shall be convened by the presiding officer or President pro tempore unless otherwise designated. The "special morning session" shall be considered adjourned upon the convening of the daily session.

23 (a). Notwithstanding Rule 21 and Rule 22, any subject may, by a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected, be made a special and continuing order; to commence at a time to be fixed by the Senate, and when the time so fixed for its consideration arises, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

23 (b). When two or more special and continuing orders have been made for the same time, they shall have precedence according to the order in which they were severally assigned, and that order shall only be changed by majority vote of those present. All motions to change such order shall be decided without debate.

24. When a bill or resolution of the House of Delegates is passed or rejected by the Senate, the fact of the passage or rejection, with the bill or resolution, shall be communicated to the House of Delegates.

25 (a). All bills, resolutions or other business originating in the Senate and all bills, resolutions or other business sent from the House of Delegates shall be dispatched in the order in which they are introduced or received, unless the Senate shall otherwise direct.

25 (b). Bills or resolutions of either house shall be divided on the Calendar between the designation "Uncontested Calendar" and "Regular Calendar," and be considered in such order. When such a division is made for bills or resolutions, the Uncontested Calendar shall not include any bills or resolutions (i) which receive a dissenting vote or abstention in Committee, or (ii) to which objection is made by any Senator on first reading. Any bills or resolutions shall be removed from the Uncontested Calendar at any time at the request of any Senator. Resolutions which do not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules shall not be placed on the Uncontested Calendar but may be divided separately.

25 (c). It shall be the duty of the Clerk to see that the printing and engrossing, when ordered, shall be done in such time that the bills and resolutions may be acted upon according to their priorities upon the Calendar. If, however, any bill or resolution is not ready when it is reached upon the Calendar, it shall be passed by, and be allowed to retain its place upon the Calendar.

25 (d). When the Calendar has been called through, it may be called again in order to dispose of any business that may be ready, and if there is none, the business of the "morning hour" shall be resumed and disposed of; but the business of the "morning hour" shall in no case be allowed to interfere with that of the Calendar without the unanimous consent of the members present.

26 (a). No law shall be enacted except by bill. Every bill, upon its introduction, shall be referred to the appropriate Committee. No bill shall become a law until the procedures required by Article IV, Section 11, of the Constitution of Virginia have been observed.

26 (b). No bill expressly amending any existing law shall be offered by any member unless or until the original and all copies thereof have been prepared so as to indicate deletions and additions. Each bill or resolution shall be signed by at least one Senator or by the Clerk of the Senate upon authorization of a member who has become incapacitated. Any bill or resolution introduced in the Senate may show as "House Patrons" the signatures of members of the House of Delegates. The title of any bill having any provisions pertaining to taxation or revenues shall so indicate. The form for deletions and additions shall be to set forth the material deleted with lines through such material, e.g., ~~deleted material or words~~, and to underscore the words added, before they are received in the Senate. However, the stricken material and underscoring and italics in the printed bill, enrolled bills, and printed Acts shall not be considered evidence of all amendments to any bill or existing statute, but merely as an aid for quick reference to amended portions. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as requiring the use of stricken material or underscoring when new words are substituted for existing words where the new words or the omission of words does not change the sense or meaning of the act.

26 (c). The title of a bill or resolution and all amendments offered thereto shall be entered upon the Journal, except the amendments in the nature of a substitute shall be printed separately, and only the titles thereof entered upon the Journal.

26 (d). Any Senate bill or resolution which has been amended during the legislative process by the Senate shall be engrossed and reproduced by the Clerk of the Senate, as soon as practicable, in sufficient numbers for the members of the Senate and House of Delegates.

26 (e). The designation of "Senate Bill" or "Senate Resolution" or "Senate Joint Resolution" shall not be changed nor amended after a bill or resolution is introduced in the Senate. Nor shall the designation of "House Bill" or "House Joint Resolution" be changed or amended after the bill or resolution is received by the Senate.

26 (f). Any member of the Senate or House of Delegates who requests in writing to the Clerk that he be added as a co-patron of any bill or resolution, provided that the first vote on the passage of the bill or agreement to the resolution has not occurred, or, if the bill or resolution is not reported from Committee, then prior to the last action on such legislation, shall be listed in the Journal as a co-patron of such bill or resolution, and shall be so listed on such bill or resolution at its next printing, if any.

Any member of the Senate or House of Delegates may also request in writing to the Clerk that his name be removed as a co-patron of any bill or resolution provided that the first vote on the passage of the bill or agreement to the resolution has not occurred, or, if the bill or resolution is not reported from Committee, then prior to the last action on such legislation, and thereafter his name shall not be listed in the Journal as a co-patron of such bill or resolution, nor shall his name be listed on such bill or resolution at its next printing, if any.

26 (g). Any memorial or commending resolutions shall conform to the form and procedure set forth by the Clerk of the Senate and shall not be referred to the Committee on Rules, but shall be placed upon the Calendar on the next Thursday of the session and shall be considered for approval on said day; however, any one member may object to such consideration and the same shall be continued to the next Thursday session or any member may move that the same be referred to the Committee on Rules. No exception to this Rule 26 (g) shall be made, unless the Senator proposing such exception has first presented it at a meeting of the Committee on Rules and a majority of the members elected to such Committee has voted in favor of the exception.

27. Bills or resolutions originating in the House of Delegates and communicated to the Senate shall be read by title the first time when received and referred to the appropriate Committee unless otherwise directed by the Senate.

28 (a). No bill or resolution reported from a Committee of the Senate shall be recommitted or amended until it has been twice read by title, nor shall any Senate bill or resolution be amended after its third reading, except by the unanimous consent of the Senate. House bills or resolutions may be recommitted or amended at any time before their final passage, but a bill or resolution which has been recommitted to a Committee, when reported by Committee, shall be restored on the Calendar to the status it had before it was recommitted.

28 (b). In the case of a House bill or resolution, engrossment shall only apply to such amendments as may have been made in the Senate.

29 (a). Communications from the Executive shall lie on the table at least one day after being received by the Clerk of the Senate, unless otherwise ordered.

29 (b). Whenever a Senate bill or resolution is reported to the Senate with one or more House amendments, copies of all such amendments shall be furnished to each Senator. The same shall apply to amendments proposed by a Senate Committee or by a Senator, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

30. Every question shall be put in the affirmative and the presiding officer shall declare whether the yeas or the nays have it, which declaration shall stand as the judgment of the Senate. The yeas and nays on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal. On the final vote of any bill, and on the vote in any election or impeachment conducted in the General Assembly or on the expulsion of a Senator, the name of each Senator voting, and how he voted shall be recorded in the Journal. After the roll has been taken, and before the vote is announced by the presiding officer, any Senator shall have the right to correct any mistake committed in enrolling his name and the presiding officer shall order the vote to be stricken.

31. Any Senator may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehends propositions so distinct in substance that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Senate.

32. Upon the determination of a question, any Senator may enter his protest upon the Journal, with the consent of one-third of the Senators present; and on the question "Shall the protest be entered on the Journal?", no privileged motion as set out in Rule 46 (a) or Rule 46 (b) shall be in order except to adjourn.

33. Whenever the Senate proceeds to consider any nominations or appointments after the same have been reported by the appropriate Committee, which are subject to the choice or ratification of the Senate, and when it is so ordered by the Senate pursuant to Chapter 21 of Title 30 of the Code of Virginia, the same shall be considered in executive session.

X.

The Pending and Previous Question.

34. Upon a motion for the pending question, agreed to by a majority of the Senators present, as indicated by a recorded vote, and there being no other motions afforded priority by these Rules, the presiding officer shall immediately put the pending question. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion for the pending question is made, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

35. Upon a motion for the previous question, agreed to by a majority of the Senators present, as indicated by a recorded vote, and there being no other motions afforded priority by these Rules, the presiding officer shall immediately put the question, first upon the amendments in the order prescribed in the Rules, and then upon the main question. If the previous question be not ordered, debate may continue as if the motion had not been made.

XI.

Taking the Vote.

36. Every Senator present in the Chamber, when any question is put or vote taken, shall vote or be counted as voting on one side or the other, except in the case of pairs, as hereinafter provided. A Senator who has a personal interest in the transaction, as defined in § 30-101 of the Code of Virginia, shall neither vote nor be counted upon it, and he shall withdraw, or invoke this rule not to be counted, prior to the division and the fact shall be recorded on the voting machine. If a Senator invokes this rule, the Senator shall not participate, directly or indirectly, in the matter wherein the rule is invoked. Pairs upon any question pending may be made and entered upon the Journal, and in such cases shall be announced immediately upon completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of its result. Pairs may be general or special. General pairs shall extend to and include all motions, amendments, or other proceedings in aid of or against the question pending, and which is the subject of the pairs. Special pairs shall depend in their scope upon the agreement between the Senators making the same, but in absence of a specific agreement, the presumption shall be conclusive that the pairs are general. The Senator announcing a pair shall be counted as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum. Pairs may be taken in Committee votes under this rule herein set forth.

37. The voting machine may be used for the call of the roll, for recording abstentions under Rule 36, or for the affirmative and the negative of the question.

38 (a). No Senator shall be allowed to vote or submit a vote statement unless he is in attendance at the daily session at the time the Senate is being divided, or before a determination of the question upon a call of the roll, and is physically present in the Chamber, or one of its anterooms. A Senator may submit a vote statement if he was not recorded as voting or if his recorded vote does not reflect his intention. The statement shall be limited to the fact that his vote was not recorded or that his vote did not reflect his intention and must be submitted to the Clerk of the Senate by the adjournment of the daily session.

38 (b). In cases where the presiding officer is also a member of the Senate at the time a recorded vote is being taken, the presiding officer shall request another Senator to cast his vote for him or shall cast his vote from the Chair.

38 (c). When a committee of conference is meeting it shall inform the Clerk of the place of meeting; and, when a vote be put, the presiding officer shall, before calling the vote, inform the Senate conferees of the pending vote and grant them a reasonable opportunity to return to the Chamber to vote.

XII.

Debate.

39 (a). While the presiding officer is reporting or putting any question, or the Clerk of the Senate is reporting a bill or resolution or calling the roll, or a Senator is addressing the Chair, strict order shall be observed. No Senator or other person shall give audible expression to his or her approval or disapproval of any proceeding before the Senate.

39 (b). The use of audible electronic devices used for transmitting and receiving communications is prohibited in Senate committee rooms and the Senate Chamber. The use of cellular telephones is prohibited in Senate committee rooms and the Senate Chamber. Violations of this rule shall be punishable as prescribed by the Committee on Rules.

40. If words are spoken in debate that give offense, exception thereto shall be taken the same day, and be stated in writing; and in such case, if the words are decided by the presiding officer, or by the Senate, upon an appeal, to be offensive, and they are not explained or retracted by the Senator who uttered them, he shall be subject to such action as the Senate may deem necessary.

41. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat, and without advancing, with due respect, address "Mr. President," confining himself strictly to the point in debate, and avoiding all disrespectful language.

42. No member shall speak more than twice upon the same subject without leave of the Senate, nor more than once, until every member choosing to speak has spoken.

43. No question shall be debated until it has been stated by the presiding officer, and the mover shall have the right to explain his views in preference to any Senator.

44. During any debate any Senator, though he has spoken to the matter, may rise and speak to the orders of the Senate if they are transgressed, in case the presiding officer does not so rise and speak, but if the presiding officer stands up at any time, he is first to be heard, and while he is standing Senators shall keep their seats.

45. No Senator shall be allowed to be interrupted while speaking, except on points of order, to correct erroneous statements, or for a Senator to answer any questions that may be stated by the Senator speaking.

46 (a). The following motions shall not be debated or spoken to except as hereinafter provided:

(i) A motion to adjourn.

(ii) A motion calling for a vote on the pending question.

(iii) A motion calling for a vote on the previous question.

(iv) A motion to suspend the Rules.

(v) A motion to close debate.

(vi) A motion to limit debate.

(ix) A motion to change, in case of two or more special and continuing orders.

46 (b). Upon the following motions, the mover shall be allowed five minutes to speak his motion, to state the reasons therefor, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to speak to the motion, to state his objections:

(i) A motion for a special and continuing order.

(ii) A motion to appeal a ruling of the Chair.

46 (c). When a question not debatable is before the Senate, all incidental questions arising after it is stated shall be decided and settled without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise. This same Rule shall apply to all incidental questions arising after the presiding officer has put any question to the Senate.

46 (d). A motion to strike out, being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to insert, nor a motion to strike out and insert.

46 (e). When a question is pending, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to pass by for the day, for the pending question, for the previous question, or to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein set out.

46 (f). Except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of Rule 46 (e), a primary motion may be substituted once.

XIII.

Reconsideration.

47. A question arising on a Senate Bill, Senate Resolution or Senate Joint Resolution being once determined must stand as the judgment of the Senate, and cannot during the course of that session of the General Assembly be drawn again into debate, unless a motion to reconsider a question which has been decided has been made by a Senator voting with the prevailing side, and unless made on the same day on which the vote was taken;

however, if such action has not been communicated to the House, a motion to reconsider may be made within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter provided further that when any question is decided in the negative simply for the want of a majority of the whole Senate, any Senator who was absent from the city of Richmond or detained from his seat by sickness at the time of the vote sought to be reconsidered may move its reconsideration; however, unless unanimous consent of the members of the Senate present and voting on a motion for a second or subsequent reconsideration be granted, no measure being once determined may be reconsidered more than once by the Senate during that session of the General Assembly.

A Senator desiring such reconsideration shall confer with the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, or in his absence the most senior available member thereof, who shall consult with the chief spokesman for and against the measure, if there is any, and thereafter such Chairman or senior member may direct the Clerk to defer or expedite the transmittal of the action of the Senate on the measure to the House of Delegates to permit the making of such motion for reconsideration; however, in no event shall such deferral of transmittal hereunder be for more than one legislative day.

This rule shall not preclude consideration of any House Bill, House Joint Resolution, or House amendment to a Senate Bill or a Senate Joint Resolution, regardless of whether such House measure involves a question already determined.

XIV.

Suspension of Rules.

48. Any rule of the Senate may only, except where otherwise provided by the Constitution of Virginia, be amended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators elected. These Rules may be suspended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators elected.

XV.

Appeals.

49. If the presiding officer rules on any matter under these Rules by his own act, or upon request of any Senator, and if any Senator objects to the ruling of the presiding officer, then an appeal to the Senate shall lie, and any motion to sustain the ruling of the presiding officer shall require a majority of those present to prevail.

XVI.

Committee of the Whole.

50. The Senate may go into the Committee of the Whole only upon the affirmative vote of a majority of the members elected. When the Senate shall resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole, the President shall leave the Chair and the President pro tempore shall preside in the Committee. If the President pro tempore is absent from the Senate, then the Senate shall elect a chairman to preside therein.

The Committee of the Whole shall consider and report on such subjects as may be committed to it by the Senate. The Rules of the Senate shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole, so far as they are applicable. Section 16.1-69.10(d), Code of Virginia (1950), as amended, provides that the Committee on District Courts shall make a study and report to the General Assembly on the number of district court judges needed and the districts for which they should be authorized. Pursuant to that provision, the Committee on District Courts hereby recommends to the General Assembly that § 16.1-69.6:1 be amended by authorizing one additional new judgeship in each of the following judicial districts:

Fifteenth Judicial District	Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court
Twenty-seventh Judicial District	Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court

These recommendations are effective July 1, 2004. No further changes are recommended in any other districts.

These recommendations are based upon an investigation of the needs of all the districts and are supported by the statistical information included in the appendix to this report.

In addition, the provisions of Chapter 1042 of the 2003 Acts of Assembly (Appropriations Act) provide that the Committee on District Courts should provide the fiscal impact for the creation of such new judgeships. The cost for each district court judgeship is $192,935 per year. Thus the total financial impact of this recommendation is $385,870 per year.

The Senate met at 10:00 a.m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Dr. Anthony B. Rodgers, Sr., First Baptist Church Crestwood, Chesapeake, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, as we enter this General Assembly session, let us bring Your presence within this place. We speak Your peace, we speak Your grace, we speak Your mercy, and we speak Your perfect order into this session.

May the works done here bring faith, joy, and a smile to all that come into this place and those listening to this session let the peace of Your love fall upon us.

Oh God, we acknowledge Your power over all that will be spoken, thought, decided, and done within these walls.

Lord, we thank You for these blessed officials of this great State of Virginia. They have been invested with earthly powers and are committed to using their power in Your honor in representing Your people.

Father, if someone doesn't comprehend the decisions made here today, guide him or her in their understanding.

Oh God, give them a fresh supply of strength to do their jobs well. When they feel weary, energize them and when they feel burned out, infuse them with the light of Your almighty power.

Oh God, quicken their bodies, minds, projects, and ideas so that even the smallest accomplishments in this session may bring them contentment.

Oh God, when we leave this place, bless every heart, every marriage, every family, every child, every baby, minds, body and soul. Bless our home, jobs, cities, counties, and this great country of the United States of America.

Oh God, grant us traveling mercies on the roadways, railways, highways, boatways, and airways, that we may arrive to our final destinations safely.

We thank You for everything You've done, we thank You for everything You're doing, and we thank You for everything You're going to do in this General Assembly session today.

Hon. Susan Clarke Schaar

Richmond, Virginia 23219

Re: Seventh Judicial Circuit

Dear Ms. Schaar:

You will find enclosed herewith, in duplicate, a copy of the report of this Court and the order entered on January 15, 2004 in the matter of the vacancy in the office of judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit.

Copies of this report and order are being sent to Governor Warner and Mr. Bruce F. Jamerson.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Patricia H. Krueger
Clerk

VIRGINIA:

In the Supreme Court of Virginia held at the Supreme Court Building in the City of Richmond on Thursday the 15th day of January, 2004.

It being brought to the attention of the Court that a vacancy is expected to occur on July 1, 2004 in the office of judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit by the retirement of Judge Randolph T. West, and the Court, pursuant to section 17-122 of the Code of Virginia of 1950, as amended, having secured information concerning the volume of business in the said circuit, is of opinion, for reasons stated in writing in the form of a report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of Virginia and filed herewith, that the amount of business of the Seventh Judicial Circuit makes the filling of the vacancy necessary. Accordingly, the Court doth certify that there is a necessity for filling the vacancy in the manner provided by law, provided the vacancy occurs as anticipated by the notice sent to the Governor of Virginia.

And it is ordered that a copy of this order, together with a copy of the report above referred to, be certified to the Governor of Virginia and to the General Assembly of Virginia.

A Copy,
Teste:

/s/ Patricia H. Krueger

SUPREME COURT OF VIRGINIA
100 North Ninth Street
Richmond, Virginia 23219-2334

January 15, 2004

TO: The Honorable Mark R. Warner
Governor of Virginia
And
General Assembly of Virginia

IN RE: Seventh Judicial Circuit

Section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia, as amended, provides that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall not be filled until, after investigation, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the filling of the vacancy is or is not necessary. The Honorable Randolph T. West, Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, has given notice of his intent to retire on July 1, 2004, thereby creating a vacancy in the office of judge of that circuit.

The Seventh Judicial Circuit serves the City of Newport News. The General Assembly has authorized five circuit court judgeships for that circuit. The 2002 population of the circuit was 179,500. Each judge in the circuit was assigned 1,858 commenced cases in 2002. The statewide average for commenced cases per judge in 2002 was 1,836.

Based on the foregoing facts and the information contained in the enclosed report, the Supreme Court of Virginia is of the opinion that the vacancy created by the retirement of Judge West should be filled in the manner prescribed by law.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Leroy Rountree Hassell, Sr.
Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Virginia

The reading of the communications was waived.

The communications were referred to the Committee for Courts of Justice.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Philip Waltz, Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church, Martinsville, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Dear God, we thank You for Your love that embraces, uplifts, and offers us ultimate security. We praise You for Your spirit that grants us wisdom, peace, and resiliency. We are grateful for Your grace that offers us strength, endurance, and encouragement.

As we gather during the week the nation remembers the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., let us as a people give thanks for those who have sacrificed greatly for the cause of racial equality and truly live Dr. King's call to look beyond the color of one's skin to the content of each person's character.

Be with each Senator that they may think clearly without confusion, speak honestly without animosity, and decide with courage. Let each submit to Your guidance, commit their work to You, and receive Your assurance they have acted justly. Grant each Your grace to deal with each issue as patriots who love You and count it a privilege to serve as leaders of this Commonwealth.

Bless, O God, each Senator, their families, their staff, our Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and all those who are elected and appointed to lead. And may God bless the Commonwealth of Virginia. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Dr. Raymond L. Spence, Jr., Second Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Father, You have taught that it is in the numbering of each day that we ultimately find fulfillment for our lives. I would ask, on behalf of this entire body, that You would bless each of them in the beginning of this particular session this day, remembering those "back home" who have entrusted us and empowered us, the Commonwealth of Virginia, who look to us, but for Your Kingdom of holiness and righteousness, You have given the talents to be and to act.

Now, Lord, bless each here assembled and all of those who support them. We pray this day for our nation and those who represent us in difficult places, for those from this Commonwealth who go in harm's way, for families whose lives have been torn asunder by the sacrifice that their young people have made.

Grant to us Your peace that passes all understanding as we give You thanks this day. In the name of holiness and rightness do we pray. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Bell, Blevins, Bolling, Chichester, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Devolites, Edwards, Hanger, Hawkins, Houck, Howell, Lambert, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, Miller, Mims, Newman, Norment, Obenshain, O'Brien, Puckett, Puller, Rerras, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Stolle, Stosch, Ticer, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple, Williams.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Karl Jacobson, Christ the King Lutheran Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Gracious God, Maker of Heaven and Earth, we come before You now, in prayer, mindful that all good things, every blessing, every gift, every right and responsibility, come from You alone. We pray for these good things on behalf of Your servants here, to guide them in their work and to inspire them in their service.

Grant these men and women the wisdom of Solomon—whose vision and insight were clear and sound; grant them the patience of Job—who suffered much and endured; the courage of Esther—who stood before king and counselors for her people; the integrity of Abraham—who held unyielding for the one righteous person ... grant the servants of this Commonwealth here gathered such strength of character in their leadership and work.

We pray as well, Lord God, that they would have the integrity to stand firm upon their principles in the face of temptation or expedience—that they would have the courage to face their failures, own their mis-steps, and still boldly stride forward—that they would have the patience to bear what is often the harsh or undue criticism of those whom they serve—and that they would have the wisdom to discern right from wrong, service from self-interest, what is needed from what is popular.

By the power of Your Holy Spirit bear these women and men up in their work this day, and in Your boundless grace forgive them their sins. This we pray, trusting in Your mercy. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Bell, Blevins, Bolling, Chichester, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Devolites, Edwards, Hanger, Hawkins, Houck, Howell, Lambert, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, Miller, Newman, Norment, Obenshain, O'Brien, Potts, Puckett, Puller, Quayle, Rerras, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Stolle, Stosch, Ticer, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple, Williams.

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend W. Michael Nobles, Hagood United Methodist Church, Virginia Beach, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, who knows every secret of our hearts ... all that we fear, all that we hope, and all of which we are ashamed:

Help us to discover and acknowledge how special we are in Your sight, and how much we need Your guidance and blessings in order to realize the great expectations that You have for each of us.

Grant to those who gather here as servants of the people of the Commonwealth ... the desire to seek new ways to work together for the common good of all, the courage to stand for right even when it is not popular to do so, and the wisdom to speak and work in ways that echo Your holy will.

May we all be conscious of Your mighty presence in this place long after the words of prayer are spoken. We make this prayer asking that Your will may be done, and that we may work hand in hand with You to make it so. Amen.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Dr. A. Lincoln James, Jr., Trinity Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, bless now those who gather in this historic house. Bless all those whose task it is to serve the Commonwealth, the nation, and the world.

Bless our Governor and our Senators and Delegates, and all of our elected officials. Deliver them from all personal ambition and from the desire for national exaltation and power, and help them to seek that brotherhood of all nations, which is founded on justice and righteousness, mercy and love.

Bless those who have in their hearts a passion for social justice: those who cannot be content as long as some have too little and some have too much.

Bless those who labor that men and women may receive a just day's pay for a honest day's work and a decent home in which to live. Bless those who labor that the workless and the destitute, the homeless, the least, the last and the unlovely are ever remembered and cared for.

Deliver them from all bitterness of spirit and wildness of speech, and grant them strength of will and charity of heart.

And now O God, who art the master of all good workmen, grant unto all men joy and diligence in their work, and the divine consciousness that in serving their fellowmen they are serving You—we give You all glory, honor and praise—Hallelujah! Amen.

And let the Senators assembled here today, from diverse places and differing histories, find common ground through open discussion and honest compromise. We gather to follow Your example to love one another, to look after those in need. Help us now to see the generations who our laws and policies this day will effect. Help us to see all Your children as equal and deserving of our efforts.

Send down Your blessing upon these Your servants who so generously devote themselves to helping others. When we are called on in times of need, let us faithfully serve You and our neighbors.

Let us pray for God's blessings on the members of this Senate, who are devoted to helping all their brothers and sisters. President of the Senate

Susan Clarke Schaar
Clerk of the Senate

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

Amandeep Singh Sidhu, Sikh Community of Hampton Roads, Chesapeake, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

The Pure Ones Belong to God, The Victory is the Victory of God!

The following excerpt comes from the Sikh holy book, the Guru Granth Sahib. This verse is the final sermon from the morning prayer, Japu Ji Sahib, written by the first Sikh Teacher, Guru Nanak Dev Ji:

Air like the Guru's Word gives us the breath of life,

Water sires us, Earth is our mother

Day and night are two nurses that watch over the world,

And in whose lap we all play

On good as well as our bad deeds shall be read His judgement

As we have acted, some of us shall be near to God and some of us far away.

Those that have meditated on the Holy Name,

And have departed, their task completed

Their faces are those of shining ones and, Oh Nanak,

How many they bring to liberty in their train

We humbly ask for Your blessing upon this gathering of the Senate, elected by the people of Virginia. Almighty Lord, we ask for Your guidance today, as we move forward in setting laws for the citizens of this great Commonwealth. We ask that You give our elected officials the strength to consider the implications of their decisions in these great halls, and that they might have the fortitude to make principled choices in the coming months. Dear God, we ask that You keep our Commonwealth, the United States of America, and all the citizens of this world under Your care and blessing. We pray that You give our leaders the strength and wisdom to fulfill the mandates of our forefathers by bringing equality and justice to all our great citizens.

Oh Almighty God, Kindly Shower Your Blessings on the Entire Humanity.

The Reverend Jeffrey W. Meyer, River Oak Church, Chesapeake, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and everlasting God, in the stillness of these quiet moments of prayer, we bow in recognition that You are our greatest need and without Your guidance all worthwhile purposes are lost.

Our Father, always ready to hear us when we pray and to answer us when we call, dwell in us and work through us that Your plans and purposes may be accomplished.

Set our visions upon Your goals for our lives and for our Commonwealth. Give us pure thoughts, worthy motives, and wise minds for the achieving of them. Endow all who serve in places of government with nobility of character, a fervent patriotism, and the spirit of servanthood.

May our determination ever remain steadfast that our nation be "the land of the free and the home of the brave" as we hear and heed the truth of the Psalmist who wrote, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord" (Psalm 33:12a).

We ask that Your grace and presence be with the members of the Senate as they fulfill the duties of their office and serve You by serving the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

God of mercy and wisdom, hear our prayer. Amen.

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Dixie W. Brachlow, Fairfield Presbyterian Church, Mechanicsville, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

O Creator God, who has formed the earth and all its inhabitants, we pray You may work Your purposes for the people in this state, this day.

Grant that all here entrusted with working for the common good may come with an openness always seeking truth, with integrity that would protect even the least among us, and with humility so that justice might be tempered with mercy.

Give strength to understand and eyes to see deeply. May this body, in the midst of our struggles for justice and truth, confront one another without bitterness and work together with mutual patience and respect.

God of the earth and sky, of the child and grandparent, the needs are so great and our abilities and our resources, so limited. Therefore, we pray for Your discerning wisdom to guide each one in the light of truth, this day. Amen.

Almighty and most merciful God, to You we lift our voice in prayer for You are our strength, our hope, and our stay. In You we trust and find the confidence to live triumphantly. As we bow in Your holy presence, our very being speaks praise and honor to Your greatness.

For the gifts of life, family, friends, and the manifold blessings bestowed so generously upon us, we give You thanks!

Gracious God, for our great Commonwealth that we call home, we express our heartfelt gratitude. Bless, O Lord, our Governor and all these Your servants gathered here. May Your spirit rest upon them in their every endeavor.

In these good and yet troubling times when there are so many needs facing our nation as well as our beloved Virginia, we ask for Your divine guidance upon these our leaders as they assume the awesome responsibilities set before them. May Your presence inspire them to greatness. Give them wisdom in every order of business. O God, give a sense of justice and fairness in all matters. Give them strong convictions of truth and honesty; give them courage, Lord, to do right as they grapple with difficult issues each day. Above all, may the light of Your love guide them in each decision. Bless and protect this great assembly of Your people who give themselves in the service of others. May Your peace and blessings be with their loved ones back home.

As we ask Your help, blessings and protection upon these gathered, we would be remiss if we failed to include all the peoples of our fair state. We pray for those facing some of life's most difficult challenges, health problems, loss of job, broken families and others. May the work done in these chambers be a means of bringing hope and a brighter future for all our citizens. We pray in Your holy name! Amen.

Gracious Creator, from the ocean's edge at Croatan to the eagle's nest on Old Rag, from the cypress knees of the Dismal Swamp to the water's roar at Great Falls, from the windswept island of Chincoteague to the Wilderness Road through the Cumberland Gap, Thou art God. Thy blessings upon this Commonwealth have been great and are too numerous to name—for these we give You heartfelt thanks. This ground has, under Thy guidance, been a birthplace of freedom and a witness to Virginia's gift to the world that religious freedom is a natural right intended by Thee to be exercised and enjoyed by all humanity. Virginia has been blessed by an abundant supply of sons and daughters who have taken its stewardship as a privilege and a responsibility. Bless this body and those who comprise it as they continue their forebears' heritage of leadership, integrity, and concern for one another. May this blessed place, that had so much to do with the development of the country we call America, continue to be a beacon and a shining light to the nation and to the world. And may all those charged with its administration, protection, and the assurance of a brilliant future remember that the heart benevolent and kind most resembles God. Amen.

Governor Warner, Congresswoman Davis, Chief Justice Hassell, Senator Chichester, Governor Gilmore, Governor Holton, distinguished members of the Senate and House of Delegates, Mayor Zeidler, ladies and gentlemen.

I am delighted and honored to welcome you to Colonial Williamsburg and the House of Burgesses in the Virginia Capitol of 1705.

For many years only a solitary stone tablet, sitting in an open lot at the end of Duke of Gloucester Street, marked America's earliest efforts at representative government. You can still find it there.

That all changed, however, with the restoration of Colonial Williamsburg and the construction of a new Capitol, modeled after the one destroyed by fire in 1832. It's an elegant, graceful building in every respect ... though clearly designed for smaller crowds.

For 80 years Williamsburg served as the political center of Virginia, covering a period that was seminal to the development of American political independence and democracy.

Today you are the living embodiment of democratic institutional continuity. The oldest sitting legislative body in the Western Hemisphere endures ... with a few changes, of course.

For instance, during the colonial era, the opening session of the General Assembly matched those of Parliament. The royal governor, appointed by the crown, rode down Duke of Gloucester Street in a gilded coach.

There was ceremony and formality.

Institutional continuity.

Established order.

All of which, along with the monarchical trappings, were abruptly dispensed with on May 15, 1776 – the day when Virginia's leaders convened in this building in convention and revolted against the British crown.

The vote was unanimous.

That, by itself, was a remarkable event ... but it's made far more remarkable when considered in context.

The Virginia landed class resided in scattered, often isolated locations and were thus highly vulnerable. There was no alternative authority to turn to for protection. England was the protector.

England was not only the existing authority, it was of course the prevailing culture. For more than a 150 years, this land was England.

And, yet, these Virginians in this chamber were saying, no, it's not; at least not any longer.

Of course the whole idea of drawing together, in the cause of revolution, disparate and dissimilar colonies, stretched out along the Atlantic seaboard, at great distances from each other, was preposterous.

And, yet, these Virginians were determined to do just that.

Here they were, revolting against the most powerful nation on earth and without a moment's certainty about the outcome. The victory at Yorktown lay ahead more than five years distance.

Yet these Virginians were resolved to see this through ... as historian Bernard Bailyn once put it ... and "make the world anew."

The breadth of the challenge extended far beyond achieving a military victory.

There was a new society to establish. New institutions to put in place.

And one based upon principles that had heretofore formed the basis of no nation – ever.

Whatever were these people thinking of?

What possibly could have motivated them?

What sustained them?

Well, they had great confidence in their creative abilities. They had the intellectual framework, the theoretical governing structure. They had thought about it at length. And those matters that appeared irresolvable – the extension and guarantee of rights to all men, without distinction – they believed would be settled in time. Though it took far more time and far more pain than doubtless they ever imagined.

The motivation? Freedom. The great and enduring allure of freedom.

And what sustained them? Faith. Faith in themselves. Faith in the rightness of their ideas. Faith in the moral soundness of their labors.

Still, this was an improbable pursuit ... destined, no doubt, for disappointment and failure.

Or worse.

And, yet, here we are ... or more precisely, here you are ... the institutional descendents of the Virginians who rebelled here in the cause of what they imagined might be.

It is an extraordinary tale. It's our history. Our pride. And our inspiration.

We celebrate the importance of history every day here at Colonial Williamsburg. We strive to re-establish in the minds of the American public and beyond the central role of the Historic Triangle in the story of America's early years: Williamsburg, Yorktown, and of course Jamestown.

Three years hence you will be participating in the commemoration of the events of 1607. As you know, Virginia's representative government was sustained and advanced on this site, but it did not begin here. That occurred with the organization of the House of Burgesses on Jamestown Island.

Jamestown, too, as you know, could have easily failed and came close to doing just that. But it did not. The first settlers bravely survived and gave history the first permanent English-speaking colony in the New World. Jamestown began Virginia. Jamestown began America.

All of which we will mark in a few short years as part of the 400th anniversary of the Jamestown settlement. This occasion will remind the world of Virginia's role – in all respects – in the formation of America.

It will not be a simple commemoration, for the history of that period was anything but simple. But, done right – and many are working hard to assure that it is done right, it will be profoundly instructive and worthwhile.

In that regard, I would be remiss if I failed to thank the members of the General Assembly for your ongoing support of our efforts to do it right. It is important work.

Again, you honor Colonial Williamsburg by your presence today. We are delighted that this distinguished assembly is once again gracing the halls of Virginia's ancient Capitol, as it continues the grandest experiment in political freedom the world has ever known.

Thank you very much.

The President of the Joint Assembly thanked Mr. Campbell for addressing the Joint Assembly.

The President of the Joint Assembly requested His Excellency, Mark R. Warner, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, to address the Joint Assembly.

The Governor addressed the Joint Assembly as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Mr. Chief Justice, members of the General Assembly, ladies and gentlemen, good afternoon.

Mr. Campbell, thank you for that introduction. And thank you to the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, for its commitment to preserving America's history.

It is an honor for us to meet in this historic building.

The simple act of walking through this city reminds us of the commitment of those who came before us.

The story is well known to students of American history.

The American experiment in democracy was born a few miles from here at Jamestown in 1619.

The House of Burgesses met there for 80 years. Throughout that time, the settlers faced disease, attack, and divisions among themselves.

In 1699, the House of Burgesses moved here, to the settlement known as Middle Plantation.

As Virginia's legislators debated the issues of the day throughout the 1700's, they confronted mundane issues as well as fundamental questions of human freedom.

The early patriots who met in this hall believed in the revolutionary ideas of men like John Locke.

Locke offered the revolutionary idea that government is the servant of the people, not the master.

That belief is no less revolutionary today, centuries later.

Government is the servant of the people when soldiers, sailors, Marines, and police officers protect our homeland, and keep our neighborhoods safe.

That is what it means, "to establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, [and] provide for the common defense."

Government is the servant of the people when it protects the quality of our environment and natural resources. That is what it means to “promote the general Welfare.”

Government is the servant of the people when students have access to quality public schools and outstanding colleges.

That is the way to “secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity.”

Government is the servant of the people when it helps provide the conditions that allow citizens to undertake “the pursuit of happiness.”

Ladies and gentlemen, government is not the enemy of the people. Government is not something separate from the people.

In a democracy, government IS the people. Those who suggest otherwise deny the history of this Commonwealth and this country.

Today, as we meet in this historic chamber, let us rededicate ourselves to the ideals of this country – ideals that began to take shape in this very building.

Together, let us commit to the ongoing work of forming a more perfect union. Let us again build for the future, just as those who came before us.

This afternoon, we are honored to be joined by a military leader who has dedicated his life to serving the cause of freedom around the world.

General Anthony Zinni is a decorated Vietnam War veteran and a four-star Marine general. He has served our country as a leader in the United States Marine Corps and as an advocate of peace.

He has served as U.S. Peace Envoy in the Middle East and as the Special Envoy to the Henri Dunant Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue in Geneva.

General Zinni has received personal decorations from South Vietnam, France, Italy, Egypt, Kuwait, Yemen, and Bahrain.

From our own military, he has received:

- the Defense Distinguished Service Medal,
- the Distinguished Service Medal,
- the Defense Superior Service Medal,
- the Bronze Star,
- the Purple Heart,
- the Meritorious Service Medal,
- the Navy Commendation Medal,
- the Navy Achievement Medal, and
- the Combat Action Ribbon.

He has held academic appointments at the Virginia Military Institute, the University of California-Berkeley, and the Joint Forces Staff College.

He has worked with the University of California’s Institute on Global Conflict and Cooperation.

We are most proud that he currently serves as a member of the Advisory Council for the Wendy and Emory Reves Center for International Studies, here at the College of William and Mary, which awarded him an honorary degree this morning.

Ladies and gentlemen, please welcome General Anthony Zinni.

General Anthony C. Zinni addressed the Joint Assembly as follows:

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Governor, Chief Justice, Governors, Members of the Assembly, and distinguished guests.

Two generals have received standing ovations today, and I understand in Richmond we have another one running for the Office of Presidency. I’m worried about the fate of the Republic.

To stand here, on this site, and address this august body is the military equivalent of Shock and Awe, truly. Your history, the history of this body, the history of this site speaks for itself, and most eloquently by the speakers before me.

I am a Virginian by choice. I am a Virginian by choice for many reasons, not the least of which is that beautiful Virginian sitting in the front row that I married, and not the least of which is for the beauty of this state, which I think captured me when I first decided to plant my roots after four decades in the military. I am also a Virginian because there are two magnificent senators, Senators Warner and Robb, who adopted me. When I was a general that tended to get into a lot of trouble in Washington and didn't quite understand it, they took me under their wing, taught me a lot about how we govern, about the function of the military, and took a personal interest not only in me but in my command.

But, I'm also a Virginian for a more important reason. Back when this country was being founded, we had to deal with the issue of how we would relate to the rest of the world. George Washington told us not to get involved in any entangling alliances. He also said our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course, and of course we did, the course of manifest destiny, the course of protecting our own hemisphere. For the first one hundred years of our existence we turned inward, ignored the world.

But Thomas Jefferson said something that I think was important and sort of lit a match, a light. He said we are a beacon. And, at least for now, to paraphrase him, we will be a shining beacon, an example. We may not have the power and the influence to change things in the world, but we can be the model. For the first one hundred years of our existence we were that beacon, that model. We served to show the rest of the world that there could be a place, where diverse peoples could live in peace, where we could strive to be better. We certainly had our problems, but we tried to be perfect; we tried to solve them; we tried to work out an organization and a system of governance that was fair to all.

At the beginning of the 19th century, we had men that decided we ought to look beyond our shores. And, by the end of that century and the beginning of the 20th century, presidents like Teddy Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson sought to use our influence to change the world, but without much success. We still had inherited that sense of avoiding those entangling alliances.

In the history of our country, the world has undergone five reorderings, three in the last century. President Wilson saw the need at the end of the First World War to change things, to be a force of influence, to take that beacon and move it around the world. Unfortunately, we didn't heed that advice. We were still cautious, rightfully so, and we didn't feel it was our place to change the world. We were doomed to repeat those events that led us into that great war. We repeated them in the Second World War.

Men of vision, President Truman and George Marshall, were able to convince us, without too much popular support by the way, that we could help change the world. We sought balance and stability, created a Marshall Plan. We signed on to a military alliance for the first time, trying to use our power and our beacon to brighten the world, and it worked. It not only cured the problems that led up to the chronic ills of Europe, Militarism, Colonialism, but led us into the ability to deal with the newest threat, that of Communism.

At the end of the last century, we went through the third reordering of that century. The Soviet Union collapsed. I was in Germany when it collapsed. I drove through old Checkpoint Charlie. No one knew what to do. The Russians didn't know whether to shoot us or kiss us as we drove through. It was a remarkable experience, one I'll never forget. I heard our President say, "there will be a new world order and there will be a peace dividend." Little did we realize, there would be a new world disorder and no peace dividend, and we still seek it.

Nine-eleven told us that Washington's advice that we live detached and distant no longer pertains. We are not only members of a world community, we now enter beyond just the beacon, beyond just provision of stability and balance. We now enter a period, a century, where the rest of the world, believe me, looks to us to shape events. We are an empire, a very, very reluctant empire. Not an empire of conquest, we would never do that. We are an empire of influence. Our values, our beliefs, the things that we hold dear have been heeded to by the rest of the world. They look to us now to help, to provide.

The other reason I am a Virginian is because of Jefferson's beacon, because I am a first generation American. My two grandfathers, whose stories are similar, grew up as peasants in the hills of Italy without much to look forward to. They took a gamble. They saw Jefferson's beacon. At the turn of the last century, they came to this country, worked for about six or seven years, and sent for their families. Those brave, poor women, my grandmothers, from those hills that had to gather up the clan, move to the ports, load them aboard ships, take that frightening journey across the Atlantic, come to Ellis Island, get off, and enter a new world, a completely scary, awesome experience.

In those boats were a fourteen-year-old son of Francesco Zinni and a three-year-old daughter of Zupito DiSabatino. They met and married, of course, and I'm the product of that marriage, along with my brother and sisters. My father's most proud moment is that four years after he got here, he was called to service of this country, fought in the First World War of the American expeditionary force, and as he returned from France, his grateful nation made him a citizen of the United States. That was his proudest moment.

My brother served in Korea, my only brother, during the war. I served my country because I was taught that this was an obligation I had to this great land for what it has given us, and I'm proud to say my only son serves today in the United States Marine Corps.

And I would tell you I'm a Virginian because of Jefferson's beacon. That beacon led Francesco and Zupito out of those hills, led their families to come here. They sacrificed much, but in some small way I hope what my generation has been able to accomplish pays them back and acknowledges Jefferson's light of hope he gave to the world.

We need to continue that light. I tell my students that it's most important to be America when it's hardest to be America. It is hard to be America now. It is hard to look at our civil liberties and not contain them or constrain them. It is hard to look at others that want to come here and share in what we have, and not look at them a little strangely and a little suspiciously. It is hard to look at where threats are against us in the world and maybe look deeper, deal with the threats as we have to, militarily and otherwise, but offer carrots and hope out there too. That's America.

The most frightened I have seen my friends around the world, and I have many of them – I have served my nation in seventy different countries on this planet – the most frightened I have seen them is the day after Nine-eleven, and that fright came from the belief that we would possibly stop being America in some way, and it meant so much to them and to the world. I recently returned from the Middle East. A friend of mine, who loves America dearly, confused a little bit sometimes by what we do, but deep down inside has an admiring and deep affection for us, was concerned about where we were going. During the conversation I asked him, "Mohammed, what do you admire most about my country?" And he looked at me and gave me a big smile and he says, "I admire two things most, your education and your freedoms." He says those are the two things that are most valuable, that the rest of us want.

I am blessed with not only having had the experiences I've had, but currently now to teach at this great institution of William and Mary – not only a Virginia treasure, but a national treasure. I am blessed, because every week I see magnificent students who will have to go out and deal with a very confused and troubled world, for which we can give them no models and no examples as to how to deal with the problems they're going to face, with the issues that this country's going to have, with the awesome leadership and responsibilities we will take on as obligations in this world. But I am encouraged, because I see in them the brilliance, I see in them the determination, and I see in them the leadership to take this on. I saw it at the Virginia Military Institute, and I see it every place I speak and talk to young students of this generation. To echo General McKiernan's words today, I saw it in the eyes of our soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines, those that serve our government in other capacities. Our greatest treasure is what we educate our young people to be, the tools we give them, and the importance and values we teach them to place on those freedoms that were created and born here and made our country so great.

You have an awesome responsibility. You have a nation that has global responsibilities that pull and tug at your resources. In times of trouble, you have to manage those resources very carefully. And I know there's not enough to go around, but I will tell you the best investment we could make is in our youth. They are our future. My grandparents and my parents gave everything for me. It is what we are. It is America. It is what Mohammed valued the most: that education and those freedoms that are embodied in our young people.

Thank you very much for the opportunity to speak to you today.

The President of the Joint Assembly thanked General Zinni for addressing the Joint Assembly.

WHEREAS, a proposed amendment to the Constitution of Virginia, hereinafter set forth, was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses of the General Assembly at the regular session of 2003 and referred to this, the next regular session held after the 2003 general election of members of the House of Delegates, as required by the Constitution of Virginia; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Virginia be, and the same hereby is, proposed in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of Article XII of the Constitution of Virginia, namely:

Amend Section 16 of Article V of the Constitution of Virginia as follows:

ARTICLE V EXECUTIVE

Section 16. Succession to the office of Governor.

When the Governor-elect is disqualified, resigns, or dies following his election but prior to taking office, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall succeed to the office of Governor for the full term. When the Governor-elect fails to assume office for any other reason, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall serve as Acting Governor.

Whenever the Governor transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Delegates his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Lieutenant Governor as Acting Governor.

Whenever the Attorney General, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Delegates, or a majority of the total membership of the General Assembly, transmit to the Clerk of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Delegates their written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall immediately assume the powers and duties of the office as Acting Governor.

Thereafter, when the Governor transmits to the Clerk of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Delegates his written declaration that no inability exists, he shall resume the powers and duties of his office unless the Attorney General, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Delegates, or a majority of the total membership of the General Assembly, transmit within four days to the Clerk of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Delegates their written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon the General Assembly shall decide the issue, convening within forty-eight hours for that purpose if not already in session. If within twenty-one days after receipt of the latter declaration or, if the General Assembly is not in session, within twenty-one days after the General Assembly is required to convene, the General Assembly determines by three-fourths vote of the elected membership of each house of the General Assembly that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall become Governor; otherwise, the Governor shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

In the case of the removal of the Governor from office or in the case of his disqualification, death, or resignation, the Lieutenant Governor shall become Governor.

If a vacancy exists in the office of Lieutenant Governor when the Lieutenant Governor is to succeed to the office of Governor or to serve as Acting Governor, the Attorney General, if he is eligible to serve as Governor, shall succeed to the office of Governor for the unexpired term or serve as Acting Governor. If the Attorney General is ineligible to serve as Governor, the Speaker of the House of Delegates, if he is eligible to serve as Governor, shall succeed to the office of Governor for the unexpired term or serve as Acting Governor. If a vacancy exists in the office of the Speaker of the House of Delegates or if the Speaker of the House of Delegates is ineligible to serve as Governor, the House of Delegates shall convene and fill the vacancy.

In the event of an emergency or enemy attack upon the soil of Virginia and a resulting inability of the House of Delegates to convene to fill the vacancy, the Speaker of the House, the person designated to act in his stead as prescribed in the Rules of the House of Delegates, the President pro tempore of the Senate, or the majority leader of the Senate, in that designated order, shall serve as Acting Governor until such time as the House of Delegates convenes to elect a Governor.

The General Assembly may provide by law for the waiver of the eligibility requirements for the Attorney General, Speaker of the House, or acting Speaker to serve as Governor or Acting Governor in the event of an emergency or enemy attack upon the soil of Virginia as evidenced by a proclamation of the Governor or alternative authority prescribed by law.

We recognize that You are God and that there is none like You. Therefore, we come before You today seeking wisdom for this day. The Word of God is clear that if any one lacks wisdom we simply need to ask and it will be given. We ask that You give divine wisdom to those here who will be making many decisions today. May You give them discernment, understanding, patience and courage to do what is right in Your eyes. We thank You for hearing and answering our prayer. And now may the One who loved us and gave His life for us pour out His blessing upon us this day. Amen.

Creator God, answer us in our call to You as we seek Your guidance to better this world. Hear the prayers of all Your people who suffer on this day in mind, body or spirit. We especially ask that You bless those who are serving our country and comfort their families with Your presence.

Be gracious, O God, to all who gather in this room today. Grant Your kind wisdom and peace to the thoughts of Your servants and lead them to resolve with justice the issues that surface in this time and place.

Inspire us all to seek Your truth and live as channels of Your grace. Remind us that Your steadfast love extends to the heavens and Your faithfulness to the clouds. Keep us each faithful in our vocations, save us from corruption, and make of us beacons of light for Your people.

All this we pray in great certainty of Your presence. Amen.

§ 58.1-339.14. Limitation on regulations.

Eligibility of a school or other educational program to be considered a qualified school under this article shall not be conditioned on a school's compliance with any state law or regulation not applicable to all private schools in the Commonwealth, with the exception of the financial documentation requirements authorized by § 58.1-339.13.

The credits authorized by this article shall not result in any additional regulation of public or nonpublic schools or taxpayers' decisions about the education of their dependent children, except to the minimal extent necessary to provide for the prevention of fraud and the efficient administration of the credits.

Eternal God, our Heavenly Father
Thou who are, the author and finisher of our faith
Thou who are, the giver of every good and perfect gift
In Thou divine presence we have come.

We have come together at this hour of the day in this Senate chamber to invoke Thy rich blessing and benedictions upon our Lt. Governor, our Senators, our clerks and staff, and our pages, as they do legislative business on behalf of the citizens of our great Commonwealth.

While they are here, let their souls be kept of Thy divine love and mercy.

While they are here, may they respect and consider each other's opinion during deliberation and debate.

While they are here, remove their selfishness, diminish their fears, strengthen their faith, and enlarge their hope and vision.

While they are here, grant unto them a deeper appreciation for working for the common good.

Now Father God, let the benediction of Your peace and the brightness of Your presence be upon this day that whatsoever thy doeth will be pleasing in Thou sight.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Arthur S. Jones, Third Street Bethel AME Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, with deep humility we thank You for life—for our individual lives, for the lives of our families—and for the continuing life of this great deliberative body, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

History weighs heavily upon this body and upon this Commonwealth. There is history to be proud of, in the historic and precedent-setting actions that laid many of the foundation stones of our great nation—and there is history to be ashamed of, because of the long era of denial of human rights and dignity for people of color in this Commonwealth.

Yet, we thank You, O God, that because of the struggles of courageous men and women, this body has come a long way toward the goal of representing the aspirations of all Virginians, regardless of race or gender. May such progress continue and grow!

All Virginians—and all Americans, stand at the threshold of uncertain dangers and certain opportunities. The dangers come from those insidious forces who wish to destroy our freedom, our system of government and our nation. A part of their destructive fury fell on our state on that unforgettable date of September 11, 2001.

The opportunities depend upon our ability as a people to move forward toward a new birth of freedom for all Virginians. As we strive toward this objective, we look to You, O God, to give us the strength to push back the dangers and to take full advantage of the opportunities.

Without Your help, we cannot succeed—with Your help we cannot fail. We pray that this Senate, in all its deliberations, whether in the mundane, but vital area of economic policy, or in the concerns of social equality and attention to needs of the poor, will be guided by the words of the great Hebrew prophet, Amos:

“Let justice roll down like the rivers, and righteousness as a mighty stream.” Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Bell, Blevins, Bolling, Chichester, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Devolites, Edwards, Hanger, Hawkins, Houck, Howell, Lambert, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, Miller, Newman, Norment, Obenshain, O’Brien, Potts, Puckett, Puller, Quayle, Rerras, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Stolle, Stosch, Ticer, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple, Williams.

A quorum was present.

After the roll call, Senator Mims notified the Clerk of his presence.

On motion of Senator Ruff, the reading of the Journal was waived.

The recorded vote is as follows:

Timothy M. Kaine
President of the Senate

Clerk of the Senate

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 2004

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor Timothy M. Kaine.

The Reverend Dr. Bruce A. Gray, St. John's Episcopal Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

It's all about choices, God.

To tax or not to tax, to spend or not to spend.

To make new laws, or to let the old ones stand.

To stand on principle, or be politically correct.

To be a lone voice in the wilderness, or work with colleagues to get the job done.

To seek to be reelected, or to risk a controversial stand.

To search for a compromise, or to be unbending and lose it all.

Some of the choices are easy, O God, some are nearly impossible.

Be with those who serve here, let them give thanks for the easy choices.

May they be challenged by the tough decisions and have the courage and wisdom to choose wisely.

Grant them, Lord, time for work and time for play.

May they always seek the well-being of all the people they serve, rich and poor alike, people who vote and those who don't.

May their work in this session, enrich and enlighten all our people. May their work support all our citizens and strengthen the Commonwealth of Virginia. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

2. For collection of accounts receivable under $3,000 that are 60 days or more past due, each agency and institution shall contract with a private collection agency for the collection of those debts. Prior to referring accounts receivable of less than $3,000, agencies and institutions may refer such accounts to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Debt Collection. The Attorney General may accept the account for collection or return it to the agency or institution for collection by a private collection agency.

B.1. There is hereby created on the books of the Comptroller a special nonreverting fund known as the “Debt Collection Recovery Fund.” The Division of Debt Collection shall deposit to the Fund all revenues generated by it from receivables collected on behalf of state agencies. This provision shall apply whether such payment is made directly to the affected agency or to the Office of the Attorney General. Amounts collected from receivables in trust or federal funds, however, shall be returned to such funds.

2. The Secretary of Finance may make exemptions from the required deposits to the Fund, as specified in B.1. above, upon his determination that such collections are more appropriately returned to the fund source in which such receivables are due. Any such exemptions shall be reported to the Chairmen of the Senate Finance and House Appropriations Committees within 30 days of such approval.

3. From the amounts deposited into the Fund, 30 percent, not to exceed $1,800,000 in any fiscal year, shall be paid to the Division of Debt Collection.

4. Thirty percent shall be returned to the state agency for which the claim was collected. Out of the balance in the Fund, the State Comptroller shall transfer up to $1,570,000 to the general fund on or before June 30, 2004. Any amount in excess of the transfer which remains in the Debt Collection Recovery Fund each year after the transfer shall be returned on a pro rata basis to all state agencies having claims collected by the Division of Debt Collection during the course of the year, to the extent that such collections contributed to the balance in the Fund.

5. The Division of Debt Collection in the Office of the Attorney General and the Department of Accounts shall promulgate rules necessary to implement these provisions.”

“A.1. For collection of accounts receivable of $3,000 or more that are 60 days or more past due, each state agency and institution shall forward those claims to the Office of Attorney General, Division of Debt Collection for collection. The Attorney General shall review forwarded accounts, determine the appropriate collection efforts if any, for each account, and take such actions on the accounts as he may so determine.

2. For collection of accounts receivable under $3,000 that are 60 days or more past due, each agency and institution shall contract with a private collection agency for the collection of those debts. Prior to referring accounts receivable of less than $3,000, agencies and institutions may refer such accounts to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Debt Collection. The Attorney General may accept the account for collection or return it to the agency or institution for collection by a private collection agency.

B.1. There is hereby created on the books of the Comptroller a special nonreverting fund known as the “Debt Collection Recovery Fund.” The Division of Debt Collection shall deposit to the Fund all revenues generated by it from receivables collected on behalf of state agencies. This provision shall apply whether such payment is made directly to the affected agency or to the Office of the Attorney General. Amounts collected from receivables in trust or federal funds, however, shall be returned to such funds.

2. The Secretary of Finance may make exemptions from the required deposits to the Fund, as specified in B.1. above, upon his determination that such collections are more appropriately returned to the fund source in which such receivables are due. Any such exemptions shall be reported to the Chairmen of the Senate Finance and House Appropriations Committees within 30 days of such approval.

3. From the amounts deposited into the Fund, 30 percent, not to exceed $1,800,000 in any fiscal year, shall be paid to the Division of Debt Collection.

4. Thirty percent shall be returned to the state agency for which the claim was collected. Out of the balance in the Fund, the State Comptroller shall transfer up to $3,454,000 to the general fund on or before June 30, 2005, and up to $3,444,000 on or before June 30, 2006. Any amount in excess of the transfer which remains in the Debt Collection Recovery Fund each year after the transfer shall be returned on a pro rata basis to all state agencies having claims collected by the Division of Debt

Collection during the course of the year, to the extent that such collections contributed to the balance in the Fund.

5. The Division of Debt Collection of the Office of the Attorney General and the Department of Accounts shall promulgate rules necessary to implement these provisions.”
