2008 REGULAR SESSION

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend J. Brooke Willson, Shady Grove United Methodist Church, Mechanicsville, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

God of this and every nation, as this, our beloved Commonwealth begins its fifth century, pour out Your Spirit on this Senate for the work You have called them to do. Remind them of the legacy they inherit from their predecessors in this chamber. Give them compassion for those who most need their work: the newest and youngest of our citizens, the oldest and most tenured, and the last, the least, and the lost of our family of Virginians. Give them courage to rise above provincialism and partisanship. Give them patience, endurance, and health for the hard days that lie before them. Give them persistent humor that puts themselves and their differences in perspective. Give them leadership that constantly evokes the best in who they are and what they do. Help them to know not just the demands of their constituents, but also our prayers of encouragement and support. Bless those who work behind the scenes – the staffers, the clerks, and the pages. There will be no headlines about them, their names will be on no bridges, highways, or buildings, but they make the work of this body possible. And when this body is conflicted and in doubt, O God, help them to look to the pages, who will inherit, for good or for ill, the consequences of the decisions made in this chamber. May all Senators be as willing to be servants as are the pages. Finally, gracious Lord, give them love for each other, for this Commonwealth, this nation, and, most of all, for You. In the name of all that is holy. Amen.

The Clerk stated that the disclosure forms of all Senators-elect had been filed with the Clerk.

RULES OF THE SENATEI.Presiding Officer.

1. The presiding officer of the Senate shall be the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth as the President of the Senate in accordance with Article V, Section 14, of the Constitution.

2 (a). There shall be elected by the Senate, on the first day of the session following the election of the Senate, a President pro tempore who shall serve for a term of four years and be a senior member in the Senate.

2 (b). In the event of the absence, disability or vacancy in the office of the Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore shall carry out the duties of the Lieutenant Governor as presiding officer. Further, the President pro tempore shall be the Chairman of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation of the Senate.

2 (c). The President pro tempore shall have the right to name in open session, or if he is absent, in writing, a Senator to perform the duties of the presiding officer, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment of a daily session, except by unanimous consent of those present.

2 (d). In the event of a vacancy in the office of the Lieutenant Governor, or whenever the powers and duties of the Governor shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore shall have the right to name, in writing, a Senator to perform the duties of the presiding officer during his absence; and the Senator so named shall have the right to name, in open session, or in writing, if he is absent, a Senator to perform the duties of the presiding officer, but such substitution shall not extend beyond adjournment of a daily session, except by unanimous consent of those present.

3. The presiding officer, after taking the Chair pursuant to these Rules, and a quorum being present, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read. The reading of the Journal may be waived by a majority of those Senators present and voting. The reading of the Journal may be waived at a reconvened session of a special session by at least two members present and voting, only if there is no business to consider in accordance to Article IV, Section 6 of the Constitution of Virginia. Any errors in the entries shall be corrected, and the Journal being found correct, shall be signed by the presiding officer for that day and the Clerk of the Senate. The Journals, when so signed, shall be the official records of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. If any question is put upon a bill or resolution, the presiding officer shall state the same without argument.

7. *The Senate shall elect 11 Pages and five Pages shall be appointed by the following: one by the Lieutenant Governor; one by the President pro tempore; one by the chairman of the caucus of the majority party; one by the majority leader; and one by the minority leader. 8 (a). *A Clerk of the Senate shall be elected by the Senate for a term of four years and shall thereafter continue in office until another is chosen. The oath of office shall be administered to the Clerk of the Senate by any person qualified by law to administer oaths. 8 (e). The Clerk of the Senate shall prepare a list of the Senators in order of seniority. Seniority shall be based upon longest continuous service in the Senate. However, if a Senator has previous interrupted service in the Senate, then the beginning date of such previous Senate service shall qualify the Senator for seniority before those Senators elected at the same time not having previous service in the Senate, and if a Senator has previous service in the House of Delegates then the beginning date of such House service shall qualify the Senator to seniority before those Senators elected to the Senate at the same time not having previous service in the House of Delegates. Senators elected at the same time without previous service in the Senate or House of Delegates shall have their seniority determined by a public drawing of lots, conducted by the Clerk of the Senate, to which all Senators involved shall be invited to attend. If a Senator was not elected as a nominee of a political party, then such Senator shall be listed as an Independent, or "Ind."; however, if any Senator is elected at a special or general election and such Senator has, prior to such election, declared himself in writing a member of a political party during and prior to such election and the political party of his choice did not hold a convention or call a primary election for such election, such Senator shall be listed as a member of the party of which he declared himself a member.

8 (f). The Clerk of the Senate, after the election of Senators, shall assign chamber desks to the individual Senators with the Senators elected as members of the majority party in the Senate in the chamber area beginning at the north side of the chamber until all such desks have been assigned, and then the Senators elected as members of the minority party in the Senate, and then any Senator not elected as a member of the two major political parties. The Clerk of the Senate shall also assign office space in such buildings as may be made available for the use of the Senate. Whenever feasible, the Clerk of the Senate shall give due consideration in assigning chamber desks and office space to the seniority and request of a Senator. However, the chamber desk or office space of a Senator having immediate prior service in the Senate shall not be reassigned unless he shall so request the Clerk of the Senate.

Should any Senator, however, during his term of office, cease to be a member of the political party of which he was a member at the time of his election either by self-declaration as confirmed by a two-thirds majority of the members elected to the Senate, or through other conduct as confirmed by a two-thirds majority of the members elected to the Senate, or if a special election results in a change of political party membership, the Clerk of the Senate, upon such change in political party membership, is authorized to reassign chamber desks and office space accordingly.

8 (g). The area of the General Assembly Building assigned to the members of the Senate, their legislative support staff, the staff of the Senate, the facilities and space for those charged with the maintenance, repair, and security of such building, and such space designated for the news media shall not be utilized or occupied as office space by any other person or persons, except by vote of the Committee on Rules.

8 (h). During the sessions, the Clerk shall provide postage, as approved by the Committee on Rules, and office supplies for official use by the Senators. Postage provided for use by members of the Senate during the sessions of the General Assembly shall be used as necessary to carry out the legislative duties of such members, and shall not be used for the purpose of mailing newsletters. A newsletter is a written communication that is more than one page in length, the contents cover more than one topic, and 500 or more copies are requested to be printed in a calendar year.

9. The Journal of the Senate shall be daily drawn up by the Clerk of the Senate, and shall be read the succeeding day, unless the reading thereof is waived as provided in these Rules; it shall be printed under the supervision of the Clerk of the Senate and delivered to the Senators without delay.

10. The Clerk of the Senate shall appoint a chief deputy clerk and such staff as necessary to perform the work of the Senate. The Clerk may also appoint such number of messengers as may be required. The Clerk of the Senate shall also appoint such committee clerks as may be necessary after consultation with, and the approval of, the Chairmen of the several Committees. The Clerk of the Senate shall also appoint such additional committee staff as may be necessary after consultation with, and the approval of, the Committee on Rules. All committee clerks so appointed shall remain in the Capitol or other legislative facilities during the daily sessions of the Senate, and committee clerks shall be assigned for duties with various standing Committees by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation by the Clerk of the Senate and with the approval of the Chairman of each such Committee. Additional committee staff shall be assigned for duties with various standing Committees by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with, and the approval of, the Committee on Rules. Each clerk shall perform any other duties that the Clerk of the Senate shall require, when not employed by their respective standing Committees. Clerks may be removed by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with, and the approval of, the Chairman of the Committee to which such clerk is assigned. Additional committee staff may be removed by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with, and the approval of, the Committee on Rules. The Clerk of the Senate shall have supervision over all employees of the Senate. During sessions, the Clerk shall provide postage and office supplies for official use by the Senators.

10 (a). The Clerk of the Senate shall be the clerk to the Committee on Rules.

11 (a). Before reading each bill or resolution by title, the Clerk of the Senate shall announce, either by individual bill or resolution or en bloc, whether it is the first, second, or third time of such reading.

11 (b). The Clerk of the Senate shall keep at the Clerk's desk, during the sittings of the Senate, a calendar which shows the business of the Senate. The Clerk shall have printed and placed on the desk of each member, before the assembling of the Senate each day, a calendar of pending bills and resolutions. The Clerk shall prepare a list of all bills and resolutions offered on the preceding day, with the names of the patrons, titles of the bills or resolutions, and the Committees to which the same have been referred under these Rules.

12. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Senate, without special order therefor, to communicate to the House of Delegates any action of the Senate upon business coming from the House of Delegates, or upon matters requiring the concurrence of that body, but no such communication shall be made in relation to any action of the Senate while it remains open for consideration.

13. The Clerk of the Senate shall, at the beginning of the term after the election of Senators, have printed and bound with the manual and rules, etc., the Constitution of Virginia and the Constitution of the United States for the use of the Senators. Supplements to said manual shall be issued as circumstances may require.

14 (a). Whenever the Clerk of the Senate is absent, the chief deputy clerk appointed pursuant to law and these Rules shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed upon the Clerk of the Senate by law and these Rules, by and with the consent of the Committee on Rules.

14 (b). In the discharge of all the duties assigned to the Clerk, and such other duties as the Clerk may from time to time undertake, the Clerk shall be subject to the direction of the Committee on Rules.

V.

Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeepers.

15. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected by the Senate, and shall continue in office at the pleasure of the Committee on Rules for a term not exceeding four years. Except as otherwise provided by these Rules, his duties shall be prescribed by the Committee on Rules.

A Committee on Finance, 16 Senators, to consider matters concerning auditing; bills and resolutions for appropriations; the budget of the Commonwealth; claims; general and special revenues of the Commonwealth; all taxation and all matters concerning the expenditure of funds of the Commonwealth.

18 (f). A Committee on General Laws and Technology, 15 Senators, to consider matters concerning affirmation and bonds; the boundaries, jurisdiction and emblems of the Commonwealth; cemeteries; condominiums; consumer affairs; fire protection; gaming and wagering; housing; inter- or intra-government information technology applications and uses other than those proposed or used to support the operations of the General Assembly or the Senate; land offices; landlord and tenant; libraries; military and war emergency; nuisances; oaths; professions and occupations (except the health and legal professions); religious and charitable matters; state governmental reorganization; veterans' affairs; warehouses; and matters not specifically referable to other Committees, including, but not limited to, matters relating to technology, engineering, or electronic research, development, policy, standards, measurements, or definitions, or the scientific, technical, or technological requirements thereof, except for those affecting the operations of the General Assembly or the Senate.

18 (g). A Committee on Local Government, 15 Senators, to consider matters of local government in the counties, cities, towns, regions or districts, planning boards and commissions and authorities, except matters relating to the compensation of elected officeholders, where funds of the Commonwealth are involved.

18 (h). A Committee on Privileges and Elections, 15 Senators, to consider matters concerning voting; apportionment; conflict of interests, except those concerning members of the judiciary or solely the legal profession, provided that any such matter, after being reported by the Committee, shall be rereferred by the Committee to the Committee for Courts of Justice for consideration of the matters relating only to members of the judiciary or solely to the legal profession; constitutional amendments; elections; elected officeholders; reprimand, censure, or expulsion of a Senator; and nominations and appointments to any office or position in the Commonwealth (except Justices and Judges of the Commonwealth). It shall consider all grievances and propositions, federal relations and interstate matters. It shall examine the oath taken by each Senator and the certificate of election furnished by the proper office and report thereon to the Senate. It shall review and report as may be required in cases involving financial disclosure statements and shall recommend disciplinary action by majority vote where appropriate. It shall report in all cases involving contested elections the principles and reasons upon which their resolves are founded. It shall determine and report on all matters referred to it by the Senate Ethics Advisory Panel as set forth in the statutes.

Whenever the Clerk receives a report of the Senate Ethics Advisory Panel or a resolution seeking the reprimand, censure, or expulsion of a Senator, he shall refer it forthwith to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. The Committee shall consider the matter, conduct such hearings as it shall deem necessary, and, in all cases report its determination of the matter, together with its recommendations and reasons for its resolves, to the Senate. If the Committee deems disciplinary action warranted, it shall report a resolution offered by a member of the Committee to express such action. Any such resolution reported by the Committee shall be a privileged matter. The Senate as a whole shall then consider the resolution, and, by recorded vote, either defeat the resolution or take one or more of the following actions:

- (i) reprimand the Senator with a majority vote of the Senators present and voting;
- (ii) censure the Senator and place the Senator last in seniority with a majority vote of the elected membership of the Senate;
- (iii) expel the Senator with a two-thirds vote of the elected membership of the Senate; or

Committee on Rules.

19 (a). A Committee on Rules, which shall be in addition to the foregoing standing Committees, 16 Senators, consisting of the standing Committee Chairs; the President pro tempore, if the person is not a Chair; the Majority Leader, if the person is not a Chair; the Minority Leader; and members to comprise the sixteen. The Chair of the Committee on Rules shall not be Chair of any standing Committee. The Committee shall consider all resolutions amending or altering the Rules of the Senate; all joint rules with the House of Delegates; all bills and resolutions creating study committees or commissions; and all other resolutions (except those of a purely procedural nature, those concerning nominations and appointments to any office or position in the Commonwealth including the nominations of Justices and Judges, and those concerning constitutional amendments). The Committee may report such bills or resolutions with the recommendation that they be passed, or that they be rereferred to another Committee. In considering a bill or resolution, the Committee is empowered to sit while the Senate is in session. There shall be a subcommittee of the Committee consisting of the Chair and six members appointed by the Chair which shall exercise on behalf of the Committee such powers as are delegated to the Committee when acting jointly with the Committee on Rules of the House of Delegates or a subcommittee thereof.

19 (b). If there is any objection as to the referral by the Clerk of the Senate of any bill or resolution to any standing Committee or any matter relating to the Office of the Clerk, the Committee on Rules shall hear the same, resolve the issue and report to the Senate.

19 (c). The Committee on Rules shall consider and determine all matters concerning the news media in the Senate Chamber; all policies concerning travel expenses and reimbursements; all matters concerning joint assemblies with the House of Delegates and such persons, not members of the Senate, who are to be permitted to address the Senate; and all matters concerning the utilization of the facilities available to the Senate and its membership. It shall prescribe the duties not otherwise prescribed for the Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeepers. It shall approve the appointment, removal, and assignment for duties of the additional committee staff authorized in Rule 10.

19 (d). The Committee on Rules shall from time to time prescribe such requirements as will expedite the flow of the work of the Senate, all such requirements being subject to the approval of the Senate.

19 (e). Postage provided for use by members of the Senate during Sessions of the General Assembly shall be used as necessary to carry out the legislative duties of such members, and shall not be used for the purpose of mailing newsletters. A newsletter is a written communication that is more than one page in length, the contents cover more than one topic, and 500 or more copies are requested to be printed in a calendar year.

19 (f). The Chair of the Committee on Rules shall appoint a subcommittee to review the financial disclosure statements filed annually by members or candidates and shall determine whether each statement is correct and complete as filed or requires correction, augmentation, or revision by the member or candidate involved, who shall be directed in writing to make the changes required within such time as shall be set by the Committee.

Additional review shall be made of any financial disclosure statement by the Committee on Rules upon a request in writing by ten percent of the membership of the Senate on the basis of newly discovered evidence. This review shall be made promptly, the adequacy of filing determined, and notice of the determination of the Committee sent in writing to the member involved. If a financial disclosure statement is found to need correction, augmentation, or revision, the member or candidate involved shall be directed in writing to make the changes required within such time as shall be set by the Committee. Failure to make the correction shall result in the matter being referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections for disciplinary action pursuant to Rule 18 (h).

19 (g). There shall be a Subcommittee on Standards of Conduct of the Committee on Rules, consisting of three members, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party, appointed by the Chair. The Subcommittee shall consider any request by a Senator for an advisory opinion as to whether the facts in a particular case would constitute a violation of the Rules of the Senate or any statute enacted relative to conflicts of interests, and may consider any other matters assigned to it by the Committee on Rules. Any Senator requesting such an advisory opinion shall submit the request in writing, addressed to the Chair of the Committee on Rules, and shall set forth specifically the facts relative to the opinion sought. The Subcommittee shall convene as soon as practicable, granting the Senator requesting the opinion the right to appear and, upon the conclusion of its deliberations, the Subcommittee shall submit its written opinion to the full Committee on Rules. The Committee on Rules shall consider the written opinion submitted by the Subcommittee and, if accepted, the same shall constitute an advisory opinion for the conduct of the members of the Senate on the issues set forth. The Clerk of the Senate shall maintain a record of such advisory opinions, which shall be available to any member of the Senate.

19 (h). Any Senator who wishes to present a person to the Senate shall first seek the approval of the Committee on Rules. The Senator shall submit a written request to the Chair of the Committee and a copy of the request to the Clerk of the Senate, 48 hours prior to the time of the presentation. The Committee or a subcommittee designated by the Chair shall determine the merit of the presentation and notify the Senator of its decision. The submission of the written request and the approval of the Committee or a subcommittee designated by the Chair shall not be required to present members of the Virginia Congressional Delegation and former members of the Virginia Senate. Whenever possible, a person shall be presented to the Senate on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the morning hour of the session.

19 (i). The Committee on Rules shall make all Senate appointments to study committees and commissions in the number authorized for the Senate, whether the authority is limited to Senate members or other persons. It shall appoint members of the Senate to such other committees as may be required to serve as joint committees with the House of Delegates under its Rules, and shall appoint members of the Senate to serve as Senate members on any Committee or Commission required by statute. If no member of a standing Committee of the Senate specified in a study resolution is able to serve, the Committee on Rules may appoint a member of the Senate at large to the study notwithstanding the provisions of the enabling resolution.

VIII.

Composition and Procedures of Committees.

20 (a). The total membership of all Committees and the membership of each standing Committee shall be composed of members of the two major political parties in the Commonwealth in proportion to the number of Senators of each of such political parties, as nearly as practicable, and as nearly as practicable with equal membership of resident Senators from the several congressional districts of the Commonwealth as the same exist on the date of election of the Senate. As nearly as practicable, no more than two resident Senators in the same congressional district shall serve on the same Committee. However, if none of the resident Senators of the same congressional district makes a request, in writing, for a particular Committee assignment, this requirement may be waived. No member shall be removed from the Committee to which he or she was elected, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected or by forfeiture under these rules.

The standing Committees may also include any Senator not elected as a member of the two major political parties. All members of the Senate shall be elected to the standing Committees, where practicable. No member of the Senate shall serve on more than four, nor less than three, standing Committees. When the Committees are elected, the Senator first named shall be the Chair. However, a Senator shall serve as Chair of only one of the standing Committees. Next shall be listed the members, listed by seniority and by the date elected to the Committee.

Should any Senator, during his term of office, cease to be a member of the political party of which he was a member at the time of his election either by self-declaration as confirmed by a two-thirds majority of the members elected to the Senate, or through other conduct as confirmed by a two-thirds majority of the members elected to the Senate, he shall be deemed, thereby, to have forfeited all Committee memberships to which he may have been elected.

20 (b). Any vacancy in Committee membership during the four-year term of the Committee members shall be filled in the manner in which Committee members are elected in the first instance.

20 (c). The standing Committees shall meet at such time and place as shall be designated by the Committee on Rules, after consultation with the respective Committee Chair, and the fixed time and place of Committee meetings shall be published. All committees shall be governed by the Rules of the Senate.

20 (d). All Committee meetings shall be held in public.

However, executive sessions may be held pursuant to applicable provisions of law upon a recorded vote. Except as provided herein, a recorded vote of members upon each measure shall be taken and the name and number of those voting for, against or abstaining reported with the bill or resolution and ordered printed on the Calendar. A recorded vote shall not be necessary to report a resolution, if that resolution does not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules. A Senator who has a personal interest in the transaction, as defined in § 30-101 of the Code of Virginia, shall neither vote nor be counted upon it, and he shall withdraw, or invoke this Rule not to be counted, prior to the taking of any vote upon it, by stating the same before the Committee, and the fact shall be recorded by the Committee Clerk and reported along with the votes of the Committee members on the bill or resolution. If a Senator invokes this rule, the Senator shall not participate, directly or indirectly, in the matter wherein the rule is invoked. Pairs may be taken in Committee voting as provided in Rule 36.

20 (e). The majority of any Committee shall constitute a quorum. Any Senator attending and recorded as present at a Committee meeting who must depart prior to the rising of the Committee, may designate, in writing on committee proxy forms, one member of the Committee to vote his proxy for the duration of his absence, but for no longer than the meeting of the Committee at which the proxy is given. Proxies are not transferable. The Chair shall be informed in open session of the proxy authority prior to the departure of the Senator so leaving.

20 (f). Any bill or resolution introduced in an even-numbered year, and not reported to the Senate by a Committee may, upon the majority vote of the elected membership of the Committee to which it has been referred, be continued on the agenda of the Committee for hearings and Committee action during the interim between sessions or for future action by the Committee during the following odd-numbered year regular sessions. A bill or resolution may be continued only one year from an even-numbered year session and not otherwise. The Committee shall report, prior to the adjournment sine die of the Senate, such bills or resolutions as shall be continued and the Clerk of the Senate shall enter upon the Journal the fact that such bill or resolution has been continued.

The Senate, upon consideration of any bill or resolution on the Calendar, may recommit, in accordance with these Rules, the bill or resolution to the Committee reporting the same, and direct the Committee to continue the bill or resolution until the following odd-numbered year regular session, and hold such hearings or render such further consideration of the bill or resolution as the Committee may deem proper.

The Chair of the Committee, or the majority of the elected membership of a Committee, may call meetings of the Committee during the interim between sessions to study, call hearings, and consider any bill or resolution continued for further action at the odd-numbered year session, or to consider such other matters as may be germane to the duties of the Committee.

The provisions of this Rule relating to legislative continuity between sessions shall be subject to the provisions of Article IV, Section 7, of the Constitution of Virginia.

20 (g). Each Committee shall have a clerk appointed by the Clerk of the Senate, after consultation with the Chair of the Committee. The Clerk of the Senate shall be the clerk to the Committee on Rules.

20 (h). The Chair of any Committee may appoint subcommittees to consider a particular bill or resolution or to consider matters relative to a portion of the work of the Committee. Such subcommittees shall make recommendations to the Committee. The Chair of the full Committee shall be an ex officio member of all subcommittees and entitled to vote, but shall not be counted as a member for purposes of a quorum. All subcommittees shall be governed by the Rules of the Senate.

20 (i). Any Committee of the Senate may, at its discretion, confer with any Committee of the House of Delegates having under consideration the same subject and arrange joint meetings, hearings or studies, as the Committees deem appropriate.

20 (j). A Committee, after considering a bill or resolution referred to it may:

A. Rerefer the same to another Committee, in the same form received, to consider applicable portions of such bill or resolution as are germane to another Committee under the Rules, or may

B. Report it to the Senate

(i) without amendment,

(ii) with recommendation that a Committee amendment(s) be adopted, or

(iii) with recommendation that it be rereferred to another Committee (either with or without amendment), in which latter event the Clerk of the Senate shall so rerefer unless the Senate shall otherwise direct.

A recorded vote of members shall be taken upon any motion listed in A and B above and the name and number of those voting for, against or abstaining reported with the bill or resolution and ordered printed on the Calendar. The report recorded by the Committee Clerk shall be the recorded vote on the motion and cannot be changed unless the vote is reconsidered and voted upon again. A recorded vote shall not be necessary to report or rerefer a resolution, if that resolution does not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules.

20 (k). Any bill, except the budget bill sent down by the Governor, whose principal objective is taxation or which establishes a special fund or any type of nonreverting fund, whether or not such bill may also require an appropriation, tax, special or general revenue, shall first be referred to the Standing Committee which has jurisdiction of the subject matter of the bill as defined in rules 18 (a) through 18 (j) of the Rules of the Senate. If said bill is reported by the Committee of original jurisdiction then said bill shall be rereferred by the Committee to the Finance Committee.

20 (l). A Committee may refer the subject matter of a bill or resolution to any agency, board, commission, council, or other governmental or nongovernmental entity for comment, but the bill or resolution shall remain with the Committee. The Chair of the Committee shall direct the Clerk of the Senate to prepare the appropriate letter and the action of the Committee shall be made available to the public.

20 (m). Committees of the Senate are authorized to seek and obtain, in the period of time between sessions of the General Assembly, the services of citizens of the Commonwealth whose function will be to participate with such Committees or Subcommittees thereof in reviewing legislation or in performing any referred study or study initiated by the Committee or its Chair.

Persons appointed to serve shall receive reimbursement for their actual and reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of services for the Committees. For this purpose and for such other expenses as may be occasioned by the conduct of any Committee study, payments shall be made from the general appropriation to the Senate.

Persons who are asked by a Committee Chair to appear before a Committee or subcommittee to offer expert testimony may receive reimbursement for their actual and reasonable expenses if approved in advance by the Chair, in consultation with the Clerk.

20 (n). Whenever a bill is introduced that contains matters that would be appropriate for an executive reorganization plan as provided for in Chapter 1, Article 2 of Title 2.2 of the Code of Virginia or which proposes that the Commonwealth provide new services or abolish any existing service, it shall have the word "Organization" stamped upon its covers.

IX.

Order of Business.

21. At the appointed hour, the presiding officer of the Senate shall take the chair and call the Senate to order, and the order of business thereafter shall be as follows:

(a) A period of devotions.

(b) A roll call of members present.

(c) The reading of the Journal.

(d) A period to be called the "morning hour," for the following purposes:

i. to dispose of communications from the House of Delegates, the Executive, and the Judiciary.

ii. to receive reports from the Committees, for which purpose they shall be called by the Clerk unless the Senate shall direct otherwise.

iii. to recognize and welcome visitors to the Senate.

iv. to receive resolutions and bills, but such resolutions and bills may be received at the Clerk's desk at any time after the "morning hour," with leave of the Senate.

(e) Consideration of unfinished business. (Unfinished business is legislation before the Senate as a result of or pending action by the House of Delegates.)

(f) Consideration of the Calendar of the Senate for that day, for which purpose the Calendar shall be called by the Clerk of the Senate.

(g) Upon completion of the Calendar and then Senators expressing Point(s) of Personal Privilege and such other business as may come before the Senate, a recess or adjournment shall then be taken.

22. To expedite the business of the Senate, it may order the convening of a "special morning session," at which session no vote shall be taken or other business transacted except the introduction of bills and resolutions. Upon the completion thereof, such session shall recess to such time as the Senate may have theretofore ordered. Such "special morning session" shall be convened by the presiding officer or President pro tempore unless otherwise designated. The "special morning session" shall be considered adjourned upon the convening of the daily session.

23 (a). Notwithstanding Rule 21 and Rule 22, any subject may, by a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected, be made a special and continuing order, to commence at a time to be fixed by the Senate, and when the time so fixed for its consideration arises, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

23 (b). When two or more special and continuing orders have been made for the same time, they shall have precedence according to the order in which they were severally assigned, and that order shall only be changed by majority vote of those present. All motions to change such order shall be decided without debate.

24. When a bill or resolution of the House of Delegates is passed or rejected by the Senate, the fact of the passage or rejection, with the bill or resolution, shall be communicated to the House of Delegates.

25 (a). All bills, resolutions or other business originating in the Senate and all bills, resolutions or other business sent from the House of Delegates shall be dispatched in the order in which they are introduced or received, unless the Senate shall otherwise direct.

25 (b). Bills or resolutions of either house shall be divided on the Calendar between the designation "Uncontested Calendar" and "Regular Calendar," and be considered in such order. When such a division is made for bills or resolutions, the Uncontested Calendar shall not include any bills or resolutions (i) which receive a dissenting vote or abstention in Committee, or (ii) to which objection is made by any Senator on first reading. Any bills or resolutions shall be removed from the Uncontested Calendar at any time at the request of any Senator. Resolutions which do not have a specific vote requirement pursuant to these Rules shall not be placed on the Uncontested Calendar but may be divided separately.

25 (c). It shall be the duty of the Clerk to see that the printing and engrossing, when ordered, shall be done in such time that the bills and resolutions may be acted upon according to their priorities upon the Calendar. If, however, any bill or resolution is not ready when it is reached upon the Calendar, it shall be passed by, and be allowed to retain its place upon the Calendar.

25 (d). When the Calendar has been called through, it may be called again in order to dispose of any business that may be ready, and if there is none, the business of the "morning hour" shall be resumed and disposed of; but the business of the "morning hour" shall in no case be allowed to interfere with that of the Calendar without the unanimous consent of the members present.

26 (a). No law shall be enacted except by bill. Every bill, upon its introduction, shall be referred to the appropriate Committee. No bill shall become a law until the procedures required by Article IV, Section 11, of the Constitution of Virginia have been observed.

26 (b). No bill expressly amending any existing law shall be offered by any member unless or until the original and all copies thereof have been prepared so as to indicate deletions and additions. Each bill or resolution shall be signed by at least one Senator or by the Clerk of the Senate upon authorization of a member who has become incapacitated. Any bill or resolution offered for introduction in the Senate may show two senators as chief patrons and as "House Patrons" the signatures of members of the House of Delegates. The title of any bill having any provisions pertaining to taxation or revenues shall so indicate. The form for deletions and additions shall be to set forth the material deleted with lines through such material, e.g., ~~deleted material or words~~, and to underscore the words added, before they are received in the Senate. However, the stricken material and underscoring and italics in the printed bill, enrolled bills, and printed Acts shall not be considered evidence of all amendments to any bill or existing statute, but merely as an aid for quick reference to amended portions. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as requiring the use of stricken material or underscoring when new words are substituted for existing words where the new words or the omission of words does not change the sense or meaning of the act.

26 (c). The title of a bill or resolution and all amendments offered thereto shall be entered upon the Journal, except the amendments in the nature of a substitute shall be printed separately, and only the titles thereof entered upon the Journal.

26 (d). Any Senate bill or resolution which has been amended during the legislative process by the Senate shall be engrossed and reproduced by the Clerk of the Senate, as soon as practicable, in sufficient numbers for the members of the Senate and House of Delegates.

26 (e). The designation of "Senate Bill" or "Senate Resolution" or "Senate Joint Resolution" shall not be changed nor amended after a bill or resolution is introduced in the Senate. Nor shall the designation of "House Bill" or "House Joint Resolution" be changed or amended after the bill or resolution is received by the Senate.

26 (f). Any member of the Senate or House of Delegates who requests in writing to the Clerk that he be added as a co-patron of any bill or resolution, provided that the first vote on the passage of the bill or agreement to the resolution has not occurred, or, if the bill or resolution is not reported from Committee, then prior to the last action on such legislation, shall be listed in the Journal as a co-patron of such bill or resolution, and shall be so listed on such bill or resolution at its next printing, if any.

Any member of the Senate or House of Delegates may also request in writing to the Clerk that his name be removed as a co-patron of any bill or resolution provided that the first vote on the passage of the bill or agreement to the resolution has not occurred, or, if the bill or resolution is not reported from Committee, then prior to the last action on such legislation, and thereafter his name shall not be listed in the Journal as a co-patron of such bill or resolution, nor shall his name be listed on such bill or resolution at its next printing, if any.

26 (g). Any memorial or commending resolutions shall conform to the form and procedure set forth by the Clerk of the Senate and shall not be referred to the Committee on Rules, but shall be placed upon the Calendar on the next Thursday of the session and shall be considered for approval on said day; however, any one member may object to such consideration and the same shall be continued to the next Thursday session or any member may move that the same be referred to the Committee on Rules. No exception to this Rule 26 (g) shall be made, unless the Senator proposing such exception has first presented it at a meeting of the Committee on Rules and a majority of the members elected to such Committee has voted in favor of the exception.

27. Bills or resolutions originating in the House of Delegates and communicated to the Senate shall be read by title the first time when received and referred to the appropriate Committee unless otherwise directed by the Senate.

28 (a). No bill or resolution reported from a Committee of the Senate shall be recommitted or amended until it has been twice read by title, nor shall any Senate bill or resolution be amended after its third reading, except by the unanimous consent of the Senate. House bills or resolutions may be recommitted or amended at any time before their final passage, but a bill or resolution which has been recommitted to a Committee, when reported by Committee, shall be restored on the Calendar to the status it had before it was recommitted.

28 (b). In the case of a House bill or resolution, engrossment shall only apply to such amendments as may have been made in the Senate.

29 (a). Communications from the Executive shall lie on the table at least one day after being received by the Clerk of the Senate, unless otherwise ordered.

29 (b). Whenever a Senate bill or resolution is reported to the Senate with one or more House amendments, copies of all such amendments shall be furnished to each Senator. The same shall apply to amendments proposed by a Senate Committee or by a Senator, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

30. Every question shall be put in the affirmative and the presiding officer shall declare whether the yeas or the nays have it, which declaration shall stand as the judgment of the Senate. The yeas and nays on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal. On the final vote of any bill, and on the vote in any election or impeachment conducted in the General Assembly or on the expulsion of a Senator, the name of each Senator voting, and how he voted shall be recorded in the Journal. After the roll has been taken, and before the vote is announced by the presiding officer, any Senator shall have the right to correct any mistake committed in enrolling his name and the presiding officer shall order the vote to be stricken.

31. Any Senator may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehends propositions so distinct in substance that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the Senate.

32. Upon the determination of a question, any Senator may enter his protest upon the Journal, with the consent of one-third of the Senators present; and on the question "Shall the protest be entered on the Journal?", no privileged motion as set out in Rule 46 (a) or Rule 46 (b) shall be in order except to adjourn.

33. Whenever the Senate proceeds to consider any nominations or appointments after the same have been reported by the appropriate Committee, which are subject to the choice or ratification of the Senate, and when it is so ordered by the Senate pursuant to Chapter 21 of Title 30 of the Code of Virginia, the same shall be considered in executive session.

X.

The Pending and Previous Question.

34. Upon a motion for the pending question, agreed to by a majority of the Senators present, as indicated by a recorded vote, and there being no other motions afforded priority by these Rules, the presiding officer shall immediately put the pending question. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion for the pending question is made, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

35. Upon a motion for the previous question, agreed to by a majority of the Senators present, as indicated by a recorded vote, and there being no other motions afforded priority by these Rules, the presiding officer shall immediately put the question, first upon the amendments in the order prescribed in the Rules, and then upon the main question. If the previous question be not ordered, debate may continue as if the motion had not been made.

XI.

Taking the Vote.

36. Every Senator present in the Chamber, when any question is put or vote taken, shall vote or be counted as voting on one side or the other, except in the case of pairs, as hereinafter provided. A Senator who has a personal interest in the transaction, as defined in § 30-101 of the Code of Virginia, shall neither vote nor be counted upon it, and he shall withdraw, or invoke this rule not to be counted, prior to the division and the fact shall be recorded on the voting machine. If a Senator invokes this rule, the Senator shall not participate, directly or indirectly, in the matter wherein the rule is invoked. Pairs upon any question pending may be made and entered upon the Journal, and in such cases shall be announced immediately upon completion of the roll call, and before the announcement of its result. Pairs may be general or special. General pairs shall extend to and include all motions, amendments, or other proceedings in aid of or against the question pending, and which is the subject of the pairs. Special pairs shall depend in their scope upon the agreement between the Senators making the same, but in absence of a specific agreement, the presumption shall be conclusive that the pairs are general. The Senator announcing a pair shall be counted as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum. Pairs may be taken in Committee votes under this rule herein set forth.

37. The voting machine may be used for the call of the roll, for recording abstentions under Rule 36, or for the affirmative and the negative of the question.

38 (a). No Senator shall be allowed to vote or submit a vote statement unless he is in attendance at the daily session at the time the Senate is being divided, or before a determination of the question upon a call of the roll, and is physically present in the Chamber, or one of its anterooms. A Senator may submit a vote statement if he was not recorded as voting or if his recorded vote does not reflect his intention. The statement shall be limited to the fact that his vote was not recorded or that his vote did not reflect his intention and must be submitted to the Clerk of the Senate by the adjournment of the daily session.

38 (b). In cases where the presiding officer is also a member of the Senate at the time a recorded vote is being taken, the presiding officer shall request another Senator to cast his vote for him or shall cast his vote from the Chair.

XII.

Committees of Conference.

38 (c). The Senate members of any committee of conference with the House of Delegates shall be designated by the Chair of the Committee to which the bill or resolution in conference was first referred by the Clerk of the Senate. If a Senate bill or resolution is in conference, the chief patron(s) of the same shall be a conferee and, where feasible, members of a Committee to which the bill or resolution was referred or rereferred shall comprise the conferees.

Any conference report must be agreed to by the majority of the members of each house on the conference committee before it may be filed with the Senate. If the report of the first named conference is rejected by the Senate or the conferees cannot agree, the Chair shall designate the same or new conferees in the event a second conference is formed.

Conferees shall not insert in their report matters not committed to them by either house, nor shall they strike from the bill or resolution in conference matters agreed to by both houses.

38 (d). When a committee of conference is meeting it shall inform the Clerk of the place of meeting; and, when a vote be put, the presiding officer shall, before calling the vote, inform the Senate conferees of the pending vote and grant them a reasonable opportunity to return to the Chamber to vote.

XIII.

Debate.

39 (a). While the presiding officer is reporting or putting any question, or the Clerk of the Senate is reporting a bill or resolution or calling the roll, or a Senator is addressing the Chair, strict order shall be observed. No Senator or other person shall give audible expression to his or her approval or disapproval of any proceeding before the Senate.

39 (b). The use of audible electronic devices used for transmitting and receiving communications is prohibited in Senate committee rooms and the Senate Chamber. The use of cellular telephones is prohibited in Senate committee rooms and the Senate Chamber. Violations of this rule shall be punishable as prescribed by the Committee on Rules.

40. If words are spoken in debate that give offense, exception thereto shall be taken the same day, and be stated in writing; and in such case, if the words are decided by the presiding officer, or by the Senate, upon an appeal, to be offensive, and they are not explained or retracted by the Senator who uttered them, he shall be subject to such action as the Senate may deem necessary.

41. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat, and without advancing, with due respect, address "Mr. President," confining himself strictly to the point in debate, and avoiding all disrespectful language.

42. No member shall speak more than twice upon the same subject without leave of the Senate, nor more than once, until every member choosing to speak has spoken.

43. No question shall be debated until it has been stated by the presiding officer, and the mover shall have the right to explain his views in preference to any Senator.

44. During any debate any Senator, though he has spoken to the matter, may rise and speak to the orders of the Senate if they are transgressed, in case the presiding officer does not so rise and speak, but if the presiding officer stands up at any time, he is first to be heard, and while he is standing Senators shall keep their seats.

45. No Senator shall be allowed to be interrupted while speaking, except on points of order, to correct erroneous statements, or for a Senator to answer any questions that may be stated by the Senator speaking.

46 (a). The following motions shall not be debated or spoken to except as hereinafter provided:

(i) A motion to adjourn.

(ii) A motion calling for a vote on the pending question.

(iii) A motion calling for a vote on the previous question.

(iv) A motion to suspend the Rules.

(vii) A motion to extend the limit of debate.

(viii) A motion to reconsider matters not debatable.

(ix) A motion to change, in case of two or more special and continuing orders.

46 (b). Upon the following motions, the mover shall be allowed five minutes to speak to his motion, to state the reasons therefor, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to speak to the motion, to state his objections:

(i) A motion for a special and continuing order.

(ii) A motion to appeal a ruling of the Chair.

46 (c). When a question not debatable is before the Senate, all incidental questions arising after it is stated shall be decided and settled without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise. This same Rule shall apply to all incidental questions arising after the presiding officer has put any question to the Senate.

46 (d). A motion to strike out, being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to insert, nor a motion to strike out and insert.

46 (e). When a question is pending, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to pass by for the day, for the pending question, for the previous question, or to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein set out.

46 (f). Except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of Rule 46 (e), a primary motion may be substituted once.

XIV.

Reconsideration.

47 (a). A question arising on a Senate Bill, Senate Resolution or Senate Joint Resolution being once determined must stand as the judgment of the Senate, and cannot during the course of that session of the General Assembly be drawn again into debate, unless a motion to reconsider a question which has been decided has been made by a Senator voting with the prevailing side on the same day on which the vote was taken.

However, if such action has not been communicated to the House, a motion to reconsider may be made within the next two days of actual session of the Senate thereafter.

Unless unanimous consent of the members of the Senate present and voting on a motion for a second or subsequent reconsideration be granted, no measure being once determined may be reconsidered more than once by the Senate during that session of the General Assembly.

When any question is decided in the negative simply for the want of a majority of the whole Senate, any Senator who was absent from the city of Richmond or detained from his seat by sickness at the time of the vote sought to be reconsidered may move its reconsideration.

A Senator desiring such reconsideration shall confer with the Chairman of the Committee on Rules, or in his absence the next listed available member of the Committee on Rules, who shall consult with the chief spokesman for and against the measure, if there is any, and thereafter such Chairman or next listed member may direct the Clerk to defer or expedite the transmittal of the action of the Senate on the measure to the House of Delegates to permit the making of such motion for reconsideration; however, in no event shall such deferral of transmittal hereunder be for more than one legislative day.

This rule shall not preclude consideration of any House Bill, House Joint Resolution, or House amendment to a Senate Bill or a Senate Joint Resolution, regardless of whether such House measure involves a question already determined.

47 (b). A motion to reconsider in Committee may be made no later than the next Committee meeting unless there is unanimous consent of the Committee.

XV.

Suspension of Rules.

48. Any rule of the Senate may only, except where otherwise provided by the Constitution of Virginia, be amended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators elected. These Rules may be suspended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators elected.

XVI.

Appeals.

49. If the presiding officer rules on any matter under these Rules by his own act, or upon request of any Senator, and if any Senator objects to the ruling of the presiding officer, then an appeal to the Senate shall lie, and any motion to sustain the ruling of the presiding officer shall require a majority of those present to prevail.

XVII.

Committee of the Whole.

50. The Senate may go into the Committee of the Whole only upon the affirmative vote of a majority of the members elected. When the Senate shall resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole, the President shall leave the Chair and the President pro tempore shall preside in the Committee. If the President pro tempore is absent from the Senate, then the Senate shall elect a chairman to preside therein.

The Committee of the Whole shall consider and report on such subjects as may be committed to it by the Senate. The Rules of the Senate shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole, so far as they are applicable. The proceedings in the Committee of the Whole shall not be recorded on the Journal of the Senate, except so far as reported to the Senate by the Chairman of the Committee.

XVIII.

Campaign Advocacy Contribution Limitations.

51 (a). During any regular, special, or reconvened session of the General Assembly, no member of the Senate shall use his name or title or authorize another person to use the Senator's name or title, orally or in writing, to solicit monetary contributions if any part of the contributions would be used to pay for an advocacy campaign conducted through mass mailings, e-mails, telephone calls or other communication media to influence the outcome of legislative action by the General Assembly. This rule shall not apply during any recess of a special session which lasts longer than three days. Nothing in this rule shall prohibit a Senator from using his name or title or authorizing another person to use the Senator's name or title in the letterhead or roster listing the membership of an organization.

XIX.

Senate Ethics Advisory Panel.

51 (b). The Senate Ethics Advisory Panel shall be composed of five members: three of whom shall be former members of the Senate; and two of whom shall be citizens of the Commonwealth who have not previously held such office. The members shall be nominated by the Committee on Privileges and Elections of the Senate and confirmed by the Senate. Nominations shall be made so as to assure bipartisan representation on the Panel.

XX.

Court of Impeachment.

53. The votes required shall be as set forth in the Appendix to these Rules.

XXII.

Construction of Rules.

54. The Rules of the Senate shall be adopted at the commencement of the first regular session of the General Assembly after the election of the Senate, and shall be in force for the succeeding four years unless amended or suspended as provided by these Rules. In the construction of the Rules, reference shall be had to the following sources in the following order:

MONDAY, JANUARY 14, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Robert Weeks, New Creation United Methodist Church-Aldersgate Campus, Chesapeake, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

God of the ages, of new beginnings, and future hopes, we give You thanks for the promise and aspirations of this day. We ask Your strength for the tasks ahead; and Your gracious forgiveness when our efforts fall short.

You have placed us in this world in a time of incredible change. Life passes by so quickly and our schedules are frighteningly packed. The stressful demands of each day leave so little time to contemplate the purpose and meaning of our lives and appreciate the gift of family and friends and coworkers. By Your grace, grant us the wisdom to put aside those things that are peripheral to Your will for our lives – to understand that there are only three things You require of us: to do justice; to love mercy; and to walk humbly with our Creator. In the midst of the activities of this session, grant each Senator a standard of fairness that leads to justice; a charity of Spirit that champions mercy for the weak; and a humility in the midst of debate that allows them to hear and respect the voices of both friend and foe. May this day end with an assurance in their hearts that the common interests of all who reside in this great Commonwealth have been served.

Hear our prayers for our sons and daughters who serve in lands beyond our sight but not beyond the reach of our hearts, who risk their lives for our freedom and security, and who, like so many others before them, do honor to the name of Virginia and this nation. Grant that none in this Senate would diminish their sacrifice by words or actions that compromise the ideas for which they strive. In all things, may these Senators serve as worthy representatives of the citizens of Virginia, deserving of the honor of their office and of the Commonwealth they serve.

All these petitions we ask with eternal gratitude for Your providential care. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Barker, Blevins, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Edwards, Hanger, Herring, Houck, Howell, Hurt, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, McDougle, McEachin, Miller, J.C., Miller, Y.B., Newman, Norment, Northam, Obenshain, Petersen, Puckett, Quayle, Reynolds, Ruff, Smith, Stolle, Stosch, Stuart, Ticer, Vogel, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple.

A quorum was present.

After the roll call, Senators Puller and Saslaw notified the Clerk of their presence.

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Canon Dr. Alonzo C. Pruitt, St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Great Architect of the Universe, Divine Creator of the world, as we gather on this hallowed ground whose name comes from the honoring of she who on this day in 1559 was crowned Queen of England, we thank You for the beauty and majesty of our beloved Virginia, and we ask Your blessing and grace that our commitments to love, justice, and community, be the sovereign ideas that sustain and unite us.

We ask Your blessing upon our Governor, upon all our people, and especially upon the President, officers, members, and staff of the Senate, that as we carry on the ancient tradition of people of wisdom and character engaging in reasoned debates about that which will be beneficial to all, we honor those who came before us, and cause those who come after us to be grateful for our service and enlightened by our example.

And on this anniversary of the birth of the Reverend Doctor Martin Luther King, Jr., we thank You for his life and legacy, as we praise You for the strength and service of all our people, as well remembering the wonderful writer Willa Cather, the endearing explorer William Clark, the genius of song, Ella Fitzgerald, the man of valor, Robert E. Lee, and all the native Sons and Daughters of this noble land who have added so much to annuals of excellence and the enchantment of humankind.

And remembering the account we must one day give, may our stewardship of the blessings of our uncommonly rich Commonwealth continue to cause the torch of liberty to burn brightly in our time, and for all the time to come. Amen.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Dr. Paul Hogg, Jr., St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God You taught us to serve You by serving the least among us in this great Commonwealth. When we cannot see clearly the road ahead of us, guide us. When we are in error, re-direct us. When in anything we are amiss, reform us. When we are in want, provide for us. When divided, reunite us. When we are right, strengthen us. And, at the end of this and every day sustain us with the sure and certain hope that even in trying to please You we do in fact please You. On this day of discernment and deliberation, show us the way to that which is best for us. So, then, may we rise again tomorrow knowing that You, Our Creator, made us holy; have always protected us; and that You love us as a mother and a father. This we ask for ourselves and for all those we have been called to serve. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Dear Ms. Schaar:

Section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia, as amended, provides that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall not be filled until, after investigation, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the filling of the vacancy is or is not necessary. Judge S. Bernard Goodwyn, Judge of the First Judicial Circuit, was elevated to the Supreme Court bench on October 9, 2007, thereby creating a vacancy in the office of judge of that circuit.

The First Judicial Circuit serves the City of Chesapeake. The General Assembly has authorized five circuit court judgeships for that circuit. The estimated 2006 population of the circuit was 215,568. Based on the information contained in the enclosed report, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the vacancy should be filled in the manner prescribed by law.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Ms. Schaar:

Section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia, as amended, provides that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall not be filled until, after investigation, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the filling of the vacancy is or is not necessary. The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Dr. Kim W. Brown, Mount Lebanon Baptist Church, Chesapeake, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

God, Our Father

We are indeed grateful for the opportunity to gather today to serve humanity and to use our God given gifts to establish and promote the order of our state and community.

It is our prayer that Your spirit will rest upon each state official as they serve this day. We pray that You will sharpen their gifts of discernment, and that they may know Your will. We are mindful that they stand as proxies for You today, because You are the chief legislator and law giver.

May the presence of God Almighty be manifested to the extent that unity and peace would be multiplied among them during this time of fellowship. We pray that their time together will be productive for the promotion of equality and growth for all citizens of this great Commonwealth. We lift up before You this day all of our elected officials nationally and locally. We pray Your blessings upon our governmental leaders throughout this nation. May the Spirit of God guard their hearts and provide the needed vision and wisdom for them to exercise the call upon their lives. Throughout this session we desire that You will be pleased with our actions and decisions. We commend our moments of sharing into Your hands and release Your presence and power to accomplish Your will.

On this day, may our agenda be in harmony with Your will. As we reflect and celebrate the life of Dr. King, it is our desire to always be great stewards of our gifts, abilities, and opportunities to serve. We await with great anticipation to see the full effects of the leadership in this room upon our society and know that we all will be the better for their sharing today.

May the peace and power of God rest upon each of us this day. In the name of Jesus the Christ we pray. Amen.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Ronald A. Boykin, First A.M.E. Church of Manassas, Manassas, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Eternal God, the Father and the Sustainer of all mankind, we bow this day in humble submission to Thy divine and holy will, to acknowledge that Thou art The Lord, The Holy God, The Everlasting Father, The Giver of Every Good and Perfect gift.

As we invoke Your presence amongst this august and distinguished body we seek a moment of recognition and resolution on their behalf.

This body of legislators has come from across this Commonwealth to do the business of governing the people to whom You have given them the responsibility for.

And in that vein, we seek for them Your grace, Your mercy, and Your love in such abundance that they may do the work assigned to them with dignity, with sensitivity, and with compassion.

We pray, O God that You would keep them of humble spirit that they may not get the big head of egotism; keep them grounded that they may not lift their agenda for selfishness, and keep them united that they may not seek the applause of men but rather seek Thy counsel in all of their undertakings.

Let them also be minded that the position requires preparation, success will only come through suffering, that performance must be accompanied by principles, and their reward will be heavenly.

We pray that as citizens of this Commonwealth that we would be supportive rather than superficial, reasonable in assessment rather than judgmental in affairs, and prayerful for them rather than pointing at them.

We further pray that as Your children we will all get along and build instead of singling out and destroying.

Where we differ, remind us that in our differing we each are entitled to an opinion even if that means we have dialogue and discussion to render resolution, but never let us become bitter and envious of one another that we become enemies of one another.

Grant that all that is done in this chamber and subsequent deliberations outside of this chamber will be to Your glory and for Thy kingdom here on earth.

Thank You for forgiving us of our sins, granting us new mercy, and hearing our prayer, as we give You our praise.

For it is in the Name of our Heavenly Father that we pray ...

Amen and So Mote It Be.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Mark Sholander, Christ the Redeemer, Centreville, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Sovereign Lord, we give You thanks and praise for all of Your wondrous and multiple blessings, for which we are so unworthy.

Your word teaches that these men and women here present were appointed for this place at this time. We are told to pray, intercede and give thanks for them and I ask Your forgiveness for not doing so with greater frequency and fervor.

You have placed upon them, as our leaders, enormous responsibility as stewards for all of the citizens of this Commonwealth and the resources that have been entrusted to them. Lord, make this yoke lighter through decisions marked by righteousness, justice and mercy.

Protect these men and women from the temptations of this place - from coercion, arrogance and bribery. Watch over them and their families during these periods of separation for service to the people.

And finally, Lord, please remove from this chamber all spirits of division, distrust and rancor. Increase candor as You decrease defensiveness. And allow these leaders to be a voice for those who have no voice due to their age or physical challenge; or due to where they live, whether it be a prison cell, an underpass or a mental institution. And may the decisions made here inure ultimately to Your glory and praise. Amen.

In the Supreme Court of Virginia held at the Supreme Court Building in the City of Richmond on Wednesday the 23rd day of January, 2008.

It being brought to the attention of the Court that a vacancy is expected to occur on March 31, 2008 in the office of judge of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit by the retirement of Judge George Mason, III, and the Court, pursuant to section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia of 1950, as amended, having secured information concerning the volume of business in the said circuit, is of opinion, for reasons stated in writing in the form of a report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of Virginia and filed herewith, that the amount of business of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit makes the filling of the vacancy necessary. January 23, 2008

Honorable Susan Clarke Schaar
Clerk of the Senate of Virginia
Patrick Henry Building, Room 2010
Richmond, VA 23219

Dear Ms. Schaar:

Section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia, as amended, provides that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall not be filled until, after investigation, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the filling of the vacancy is or is not necessary. Judge George Mason, III, Judge of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit, will retire on March 31, 2008, thereby creating a vacancy in the office of judge of that circuit.

The Fifteenth Judicial Circuit serves the counties of Caroline, Essex, Hanover, King George, Lancaster, Northumberland, Richmond, Spotsylvania, Stafford, Westmoreland, and the City of Fredericksburg. The General Assembly has authorized eight circuit court judgeships for that circuit. The estimated 2007 population of the circuit was 464,994. Based on the information contained in the enclosed report, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the vacancy should be filled in the manner prescribed by law.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Leroy Rountree Hassell, Sr.

The reading of the communications was waived.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 25, 2008

The Senate met at 11:00 a.m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Dr. William B. Hutchinson, Virginia Baptist Mission Board, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

God of our nation, we come to You this day understanding that the responsibility of governing on behalf of the citizens of this great Commonwealth of Virginia rest upon the willing servants of this Senate.

Lord, Bless each man and woman who has given a portion of their life to serve our citizens. May You also bless their families and the sacrifices they endure for the service, passion and commitment of their family member. May they obtain with guidance, hope and forethought the wisdom and knowledge to make the right decisions for this most important time in our history.

May they never forget the courage, bravery and absolute Love of Country and for this Commonwealth those who have served and labored in these halls in the centuries that preceded them.

We take this time to give thanks to You God for this great Commonwealth of Virginia and the opportunity to call it home. From the founding of Freedom itself to the Mecca of World trade and leadership may we stand proud in our heritage and secure in our future.

As the business of this Commonwealth moves through these people and these halls may the words of the poet Christian D. Larson, who wrote Promise Yourself to be strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true. To think only the best, to work only for the best and expect only the best. To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others. To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

May this be our attitude of Promise and You our creator lead and guide our every move for the people of Virginia today and everyday of this session. Amen.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 2008

The Senate met at 2:00 p.m. in Commemorative Session in the General Court Chamber of the Reconstructed Capitol at Williamsburg, Virginia, pursuant to House Joint Resolution No. 200, and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Andrew W. Ballentine, Jr., St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

O God, You have created all that exists, seen and unseen. Every human being is Your child. We look to the fulfillment of Your wishes for Your world: in which the weak and vulnerable are protected, and the riches of creation are accessible to all; a world in which different cultures and races live together in mutual respect, and peace is built through justice, and guided by love.

On this day we lift before You, in particular, all who govern this Commonwealth. Give our elected officials the clarity to know that their power is a trust from You to be used, not for personal glory or profit, but for the service of the people. Give them hope that will overcome cynicism. Give them openness to each other and honesty with each other. And give us all grace to live together in unity of purpose, according to Your wishes for Your creation.

In Your holy name we pray, Amen.

Mr. Campbell addressed the Joint Assembly as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Governor Kaine, Lieutenant Governor Bolling, Chief Justice Hassell, Senator Colgan, Michael Beschloss, distinguished members of the Senate and House of Delegates, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen:

I am honored to welcome you to Colonial Williamsburg and the House of Burgesses in the Virginia Capitol of 1705. This quadrennial commemorative session occurs on the site where representative democracy in Virginia threw aside its colonial shackles and reached for independence. This Capitol, a restoration of the first one that sat on this spot, was at the heart of our Revolutionary city. The man who would lead the fight, General George Washington, received his first acclaim here, having impressed the colonial leadership with his military skills in the French and Indian Wars. And here a country lawyer by the name of Patrick Henry would decry the powers of tyranny and the arbitrariness of a distant king. Some say the first shots of the Revolution were fired at Lexington, and in a literal sense that's true, but in a substantive sense, Patrick Henry unleashed the first volley in this room, a volley that inspired cries of treason when he attacked and denounced the Stamp Act. And it was also here that George Mason proposed the Virginia Declaration of Rights, precursor of the Bill of Rights, explicitly embracing the rights of citizens in the highest laws of the land.

Such were the great events of the past; the rumblings of revolution, the foundations of nationhood, removed perhaps but not so removed that we cannot reach back and understand, and that's what we try to do here every day. Colonial Williamsburg works to cut the distance between the past and the present, to make the events of long ago immediate. It's a challenge. Writing, speech, clothes all were different; so were the social customs and it was certainly a far less egalitarian society. For these reasons and for all the many industrial and technological advancements over the years since, the eighteenth-century experience may appear removed from our lives and experience today. But, I would argue that the distance is not as great as it might seem. The Burgesses sought to craft the laws and policies of a demanding colonial culture. There were issues of education, issues of infrastructure, issues of law and order. Above all, there were issues that simply emerged from different points of view, different philosophies of governments.

Of course, the specific circumstances of the eighteenth century defined that era just as the issues that you are confronting define these times. Still, the dynamics of resolution and the dependence upon citizen participation to achieve political objectives bears a strong similarity to today's realities. Historian Joseph Ellis in his latest book, American Creation, says that, of necessity, these early legislators improvised. Certainly they were a cerebral, committed group of individuals, but still, as Ellis wrote, a lot of lawmaking amounted to pragmatic response to rapidly-moving events beyond human control. The Burgesses and later the elected representatives of the Commonwealth of Virginia were constantly pressed to find creative, workable answers and how else would you describe what you do today? Indeed, the legislative process—sorting out differences, molding compromises, providing leadership—is essentially the same. The gilded coaches and the powdered wigs have gone away, but the trials and tribulations, as well as the satisfactions of making laws in a constantly changing society, endured. Though it may not ease your deliberations and choices, it may be comforting to know that you share a kinship with those who preceded you, even those who once occupied this sacred space where we gather today.

I am confident that those early patriots, knowing that representative democracy was still thriving in Virginia in 2008, would feel immense pride. And, I further suggest that they would be gratified and pleased with the homage that you pay to their efforts today. In effect, by being here, you acknowledge that history passed this way. Just as European civilization built upon the classical forms of Greece and Rome, Americans working here in Williamsburg built anew once more, extracting lessons from past triumphs and past failures, in firm conviction that they could make something better. Historian Douglas Southall Freeman perhaps expressed it best when he said, “We Virginians do not go to the storied shrines of the past to do worship, but rather to gain inspiration.” At this spot in this historic town of Williamsburg, where the grandest experiment in political freedom and representative democracy took root, I hope you will find your own comfort and your own inspiration.

Again, welcome.

The President of the Joint Assembly thanked Mr. Campbell for addressing the Joint Assembly.

The President of the Joint Assembly requested His Excellency, Timothy M. Kaine, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, to address the Joint Assembly.

The Governor addressed the Joint Assembly as follows:

Mr. Speaker, thank you for the invitation and I applaud the organizers, who upon the return of Tim Kaine to Williamsburg, sought to have all events indoors. It is very toasty and warm here and very dry. It is a delight to come back two years since the day of the inauguration. When we gathered here, the weather there was challenged, but it was a beautiful day and it is a beautiful day today to be with so many of you.

This is an important occasion. It is important that we come together every four years in this session. When the first session was held in 1934, this renovation/reconstruction of the Capitol had just opened. It is interesting to think about that year and then to think about 2007 and what we celebrated with the reopening of our Capitol in Richmond. These pivotal moments are important moments to celebrate and it is good to gather and do that. Virginia is a state that reveres traditions like these, traditions and anniversaries, and we have many of them.

First, I think we should all acknowledge that many in this room worked very, very hard to make 2007 a truly magical time. Colin and so many of you in this room took the moment and turned it into a year of magic and I would like to ask all to just give a round of applause for those who may be present.

And there are more anniversaries and traditions on the horizon. We gather here every four years. In 2011, Virginia will begin the commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the beginning of the Civil War. Work is already underway in the General Assembly to pull together the committee to explore that and tell the story and learn lessons. In 2019, a very powerful anniversary that we will look forward to with excitement, both an anniversary of power and then also an anniversary that is bittersweet. First the 400th anniversary of the creation of the General Assembly on Jamestowne Island and the 400th anniversary of the institution of slavery and the coming of African Americans to Virginia and North American soil. Then, in 2026, we will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson, that great son of Central Virginia, who spent time here in Williamsburg and then went on to a career of such fame and contribution to Virginia.

So these landmark moments and the anniversaries come, seemingly one after another, and they give us an opportunity to connect with things that are very powerful. First, these anniversary moments and these traditions do, as Colin just said, inspire us, and we need inspiration. We are all in our own ways probably too often sunk into the minutia and into the busyness of our daily activities, and the opportunity to take an anniversary or tradition to step back from that busyness and look at the grand scheme is very important. We are inspired when we touch the traditions and the principles and the ideals that are, if not timeless, at least venerable of 400 years in the making and those traditions and the stories of the individuals, such as Colin has mentioned, are truly about inspiring us to be better.

The anniversaries and traditions are also humbling. Being humbled has much to recommend it, and it is something that we all have to think about, maybe especially in this line of work. Because the anniversaries, as we think about the stories and the ideals and principles, we are also always confronted in the past and today with the knowledge that the individuals who we read about might have had wonderful ideals, but often fell short of the ideals that they had, just as we do. And it is important to remember that, because if we remember the fact that we and others can have great ideas but fall short, it can help us to keep the proper perspective about ourselves, but also hopefully give us some energy to maybe close that gap that always exists between the idealized and the actual everyday.

The marvel isn't that great leaders can also be petty people and occasionally do petty things. Instead, the thing that is wonderful is how humble human beings can occasionally do marvelous things. We have a speaker today who has made this study, how many times ordinary people are touched with the capacity to do extraordinary and marvelous things.

Michael Beschloss is the seminal presidential historian in the United States, writer of numerous books, nine books I believe, largely focused on the history of the presidency. The one book that I have read that made a huge impression on me was one of the two volumes that Michael wrote dealing with secret tape recordings that President Johnson made when he was President of the United States. I found that book so frightening you'll be happy to know that I dismantled the tape recording equipment that had been historically part of the Governor's office. I worried some of you when I said that. Michael has written broadly about presidential histories and has been commented by some of those who followed his career. There are many biographers of presidents. There are very few in the country who really write broad biographies of the institution of the presidency and Michael Beschloss has made that his career.

He is a son of Chicago and has degrees from Williams and Harvard, but he also has connections that are important in Virginia. His wife is on the Board here in Colonial Williamsburg. Michael has also had an association both with the Miller Center for Study of the Presidency at the University of Virginia but also at the Monticello Foundation.

It gives me great pleasure to bring to us the reason for gathering today, who will enlighten us, historian Michael Beschloss.

Mr. Beschloss addressed the Joint Assembly as follows:

Governor, thank you so much. The Governor was being discreet. What he didn't mention to you was that L.B.J. not only taped his private conversations with people without their knowledge, he even taped his conversations with his wife without her knowledge on the telephone, which I do not recommend for any marriage, although she had a pretty good sense of humor about it. But I loved hearing Governor Kaine speak from the heart. I think the people who served in this room three or four centuries ago would love to know that Virginia has a Governor with as enormous a sense of history as Governor Kaine does. Thank you so much for those kind words.

He spoke so fluently without a note that he reminded me that other leaders without his talent sometimes actually employ speech writers. I know that doesn't happen in Virginia, but in some other states their leader is not of the caliber of people who can speak that way. I remember, actually, since the Governor mentioned Lyndon Johnson, L.B.J. once asked one of his aides to write a speech for him. The guy came in with a speech that was a long text and began with a great quotation from Aristotle; as Aristotle said, blah, blah, blah. And Johnson said to the guy, "It's a great speech; I like the draft, but there is a problem." The aide said, "What's the problem, boss?" Johnson said, "The problem is no one in this audience is going to know who Aristotle was, so just keep the opening quotation but change it to 'as my Daddy said.'" It seemed to work for him, but my guess is that for historians it is probably not a good idea for me to take on those tendencies.

In any case, I couldn't be more delighted to be here. The highest compliment I can pay you all is to say that there is no state in this country where there is a larger sense of history than there is here in the Commonwealth of Virginia. I don't think there are many Virginia children who grow up without knowing about Jamestown and the first representative assembly in Colonial Williamsburg, the Virginia dynasty, Virginia's role in the early period of this country all the way to 2008. And I wish that were true in every single one of the other 49 states. I am not sure that it is. Some of our family's happiest memories have been here at Colonial Williamsburg, as the Governor was kind enough to mention. My wife is a trustee under Colin Campbell's great leadership. One of the great side benefits is that when we come to trustee meetings, our boys are now thirteen and eleven. We live in Washington, DC, but we bring them along, which started when they were about five and three. My earliest memory of coming here for a trustee's meeting was, our boys, then five and three, were wearing tricorner hats and trying to kill each other, which was not unusual at that age and not that seldom now, unfortunately. But I pointed over to the stocks and referred to one of my wife's fellow trustees. I said, "You know, if you guys keep up this behavior, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor is going to put you both in the stocks." I thought that would do it, but they said, "We know Justice O'Connor. She is much too nice to do something like that." And so they kept on fighting. So it didn't work very well. But those are the kind of experiences that you can have not only here in Colonial Williamsburg but all over Virginia.

Colin was talking a little bit earlier about history and how it is practiced here in Colonial Williamsburg and elsewhere in Virginia. I think sometimes we forget the difference between history and current events. We look at a president, for instance, and we sometimes think that we know almost everything that there is to know about him, because presidents these days are covered with such intensity, but there are a few things that you can find out about an event or a leader or a culture like Williamsburg if you wait. For instance, one of those ingredients is information. If you wait long enough, you are going to get all sorts of information about a president or a place like Colonial Williamsburg that you won't get in real time. In presidential terms, for instance, I oftentimes think about the fact that John Kennedy, when he was President, met with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. I have read the newspapers that came out of the time saying that the two men discussed the Soviet Union and other great events, but later on I got some notes that were taken actually inside the meeting by someone who was there. As far as I could see, most of the meeting was Kennedy complaining to Macmillan about bad press coverage of his wife, Jackie. He was going on and on and Macmillan was wiser and he finally said, "Jack, brush it off. It is just the press." And Kennedy got angry when he heard this and he said, "Well, that's easy for you to say, Harold. How would you like if the British press wrote that your wife, Lady Dorothy, was a drunk?" . . . which I think she was actually. Macmillan said, "Well, it wouldn't bother me if they wrote that. I would just issue a statement saying, 'You should have seen her mother.'" It's the kind of thing that, if you wait long enough, you begin to get the texture of a relationship, but you may not see it real time. Same thing here at Williamsburg. You know, the archaeology, just to name one tool, is showing us things about the people who lived and worked here. Day by day, we're learning things that are new all the time.

And the other thing that is probably more important is hindsight. You know we were all in the middle of a presidential campaign. We all have, probably most of us, pretty intense views about what should happen and what's going to happen. But one wonderful thing about history is that if you wait decades, things don't look so different in retrospect from the way that they may have at the time. Because if you wait some time, time has a way of showing you what may have been important about a period and certain things that people were obsessed with at the time may turn out not to be so important. I always think, for instance, of Harry Truman, who went back to Missouri in 1953 with a popularity rating of 22 percent. And I looked at the data. Why was that? Unpopular war. There was some petty corruption. An amazing number of people said that Truman used language that was unworthy of a President. The story, this one a true one, was once told that Truman was asked by a reporter what he thought of, I think Richard Nixon, and Truman's reply was, "I think Nixon is full of manure." That's what he said, but Truman aides talked to Mrs. Truman and said, "Couldn't you get the boss to improve this a little bit?" She said, "You have no idea how long it took for me to get him to use the word 'manure.'" That's what people thought was important in 1953. But here we are. In retrospect, much more important was that Truman was the President that devised the strategy that allowed us ultimately to win the Cold War.

The main subject that I wanted to talk about today is one that is so woven into the history of Virginia, I cannot tell you, and that is political courage. Because I think that in our culture and certainly in the presidency, the leader who really invented the idea of political courage as something we expect of our leaders is George Washington. And that came from his education and his upbringing, from the time he spent here in Williamsburg and further. This is someone who felt that if this country was going to survive you had to have leaders who, when they were presented with a difficult challenge, were able to say, "Yes, I want to be popular. I want to get reelected." But there are certain crucial moments when something else is more important. And the moment I think that really encapsulated it is in 1795. In August that year, George Washington was in his study at Mount Vernon, where probably all of you have been more than once, and it was a dark night and the rain was falling. There were almost biblical thunderstorms and that dove of peace weathervane on top of the house was spinning and Washington was feeling anxious and tortured, which was not very normal for George Washington. And the reason was, he was near the end of his presidency and he had become convinced that the British were posing an imminent danger to the survival of the United States. They were attacking our ships on the Atlantic, they were causing trouble for our settlers on the western frontier, and he thought that the only way for the country to survive would be to make a treaty with the British that would stop this, so he sent John Jay to London. When Jay came back, Washington looked at the treaty; he knew it would stop a war with England that we could not win, but he also knew that it would release the hounds of hell on him. And so it did. People were irate at Washington. They were sending him letters saying, "You should be impeached." Some said he should be assassinated. Even here in Virginia there were veterans who had served under Washington during the Revolution who had raised glasses in taverns saying, "We wish a speedy death to General Washington." People were so angry that so soon after the Revolution, Americans would have to make concessions to the British in this treaty. For whatever it was worth, it was worse for John Jay, who was burned all over the place in effigy. Jay had something of a sense of humor. He said at the time, "I can walk the length of the United States at night merely by the light of all my burning effigies," which is probably true. But the point is that, for Washington, it caused him to leave the presidency quite miserable. The man who had been loved almost unanimously and admired by Americans left the presidency with a lot of Americans very angry at him. And Washington was not immune to this. He was heartbroken. Martha Washington felt that this heartbreak had a lot to do with the fact that her husband died prematurely two years after he left the presidency.

So the point I'm making is: why would Washington have done such a thing? In modern terms, if he had had some political consultants, they might have told him, "You have got another year or two in office, why cause this misery for yourself? Buck it to your successor. You know, keep popular." You oftentimes hear that kind of advice from people who are not great leaders, but none of that would have occurred to Washington. He knew how difficult it had been to achieve independence. He was a person of a character that it wouldn't have occurred to him that being popular was more important than doing something to help the country survive. And so he did. Had Washington not made that sacrifice, we might not be in a United States today. That is how important it was. In terms of history, later presidents realized that they had to operate the way that George Washington did, and there has been an expectation that when there is a crucial moment, like the one that George Washington faced, a president sometimes has to rise up and say, "If I'm not going to get reelected, if I'm not going to be popular, so be it."

Abraham Lincoln, for instance, in 1864, was facing reelection. He was told by his advisors, "You are going to lose." And they said, "The reason that you are going to lose is that Northern voters are impatient with the Civil War and also you changed the signals." They said, "It is one thing if we were still fighting this war merely to bring the South back—people agreed with that—but you issued this Emancipation Proclamation, which people are very angry about. They don't want to keep on fighting." They told Lincoln, "The only way you can win reelection is to cancel the Emancipation." And Lincoln was briefly tempted. He felt it would be a disaster if he lost the election to McClellan. The country might survive, but something else kicked in and that was Lincoln had a sense of history. He said, "As much as I want to win reelection, I essentially want to be Abraham Lincoln more and I can't do that by doing something as shabby as canceling the Emancipation." He did win reelection, but of course in the end he paid for that courage by losing his life, because that is why John Wilkes Booth assassinated Lincoln, because of his upset over freeing the slaves.

One more presidential example of this: Harry Truman in the twentieth century. In the spring of 1948, Truman had to deal with a very controversial question: Do you recognize a Jewish state in the Middle East? There were people of goodwill on all sides of the question. His Secretary of State, a great Virginian, George Marshall, told him, "Don't do it. I might resign if you do this." Truman's wife, although a wonderful person in many ways, was pretty limited. She did not allow Jewish guests in their house and she was hardly going to advise Truman to make this sacrifice. On the other side, Truman had an old business partner who was Jewish, who said, "Harry, my people need this help. You know I have never asked you for a favor." It had an influence on Truman. But the ultimate thing that decided it was coming back to history. Truman was a reader of history. It does help a leader. When he grew up in Missouri he read his eyes out. He used to say he read every book in the Independence Public Library, which I always thought was an exaggeration until I actually went to the Independence Public Library, which is not that big, so I think he probably did. But his parents had told him, "We are too poor to replace your glasses, so you can't do sports." So he read. And the thing that had the biggest influence on him in the spring of 1948 was actually not in the public library, but was a book that his mother bought from a traveling salesman with a monumentally politically incorrect title of Great Men and Famous Women, the idea that women could not be great, only famous. The subtitle was "From Nebuchadnezzar to Sarah Bernhardt." And so when Truman was coping with Do I recognize Israel, which will allow that country to survive? he remembered not Nebuchadnezzar or Sarah Bernhardt. He remembered reading in that book about Cyrus the Great. Cyrus, 2000 years ago, had brought the Jewish people to the Middle East. Truman was a huge reader of biblical history. His favorite Psalm was, "Yea, we wept when we remembered Zion." And so for Truman, knowing history put this in context and allowed him to say, "Well, people might be angry. I might even lose reelection over this conceivably, but it will give me a larger historical role."

So that is what history does and that is only one of the many things that Virginia has contributed to the rest of the country. And my point would be, on the presidential level, if you don't have this kind of political courage, you don't have things like the end of the Cold War or the winning of the Civil War in a way that frees the African-American people, all the way back to the time of George Washington. Had George Washington not had those kinds of guts, this country probably would not have survived. And I often think that if we ever have a new president who comes to office not knowing how important political courage is, take that person to Mount Vernon, right here in Virginia, up to the bedroom in which Washington died in 1799. Almost his last words were three words that I would like to think of as a message to later Americans and later generations, and those three words were, "Don't be afraid." That was a very important message.

One final thought and that pertains to everyone in this room. One of the wonderful traditions that has remained strong all through the history of Virginia for centuries is that, and it is not always remembered elsewhere. We Americans know that it is only good for the country when we have political differences to duke them out, you know, don't restrain yourself. The best political battles in the end achieve the best policy. But at the same time, Virginians recognize that when you're doing that, we are all Americans. The differences can't get personal. You have to have friendships across the aisle. That is not always remembered in Washington these days and in other states. It is remembered in Virginia, I think, more than it is in many other places. When Lincoln was inaugurated in 1861, he spoke of the "mystic cords of memory that stretched to every patriot's grave." What he meant by that is that, at least in 1861, the sacrifices that led to independence were so recent Americans knew how tough it was, but they weren't very willing to let this country break up over political differences that might be transitory. I think not everyone in the United States remembers that message. Virginians, both citizens and leaders, know it so well because they understand history. I think that has a big, positive influence on the political culture here, which I wish would spread throughout the country.

And since Governor Kaine began by mentioning Lyndon Johnson, I will close with a Johnson story that makes the point. In the spring of 1964, L.B.J. was trying to get the Senate to pass a civil rights act. It was tough going because many southern Democrats were not supporting it. So L.B.J. called up the Republican minority leader, Everett Dirkson, and said, "Let's talk about civil rights." Dirkson was a Senator from my state of Illinois whom I remember as a kid watching on TV. My little brother and I thought he looked like Mr. Ed and talked like him. I actually heard him on these tapes and he does sound like Mr. Ed. But, the key thing is Johnson had known Dirkson for years. In fact, Dirkson and Johnson spent a lot of time in Virginia. They hunted, they fished, they were good friends. They disagreed about a lot of things politically but there was a huge relationship there. That was something Johnson could call on. In the spring of 1964, Johnson calls up Dirkson and essentially says, "I know you have got some doubts about this civil rights bill, Ev, but look at it this way. I need Republicans. If you support it, it is going to pass and if that happens it is going to change history." And he told Dirkson if all that happens, 100 years from now schoolchildren in America will only know two names, Abraham Lincoln and Everett Dirkson. Dirkson heard that and liked what he heard and supported the bill. My guess is that not even in Virginia, with its enormous sense of history and wonderful history education, perhaps not every schoolchild knows the name of Everett Dirkson, but at least our two boys do.

Thank you so much for asking me. Godspeed on this great occasion.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend David Wright, Fairfield Presbyterian Church, Mechanicsville, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Lord of All Virginians,

We come to You this day knowing that You ordained governments to maintain order, to provide for justice, to allow for prosperity, and to protect and provide for the weak and the poor among us. Those who govern are called to serve the people.

We confess that sometimes we are tempted to ignore the needs of our average citizens as we are pushed and pulled by special interests, or by our desire to make a name for ourselves, or by our longing to secure our place in this governing body. Forgive us when we lose sight of our true calling in governance.

We pray this day for our Governor, Lt. Governor and Attorney General. We pray for each Senator and Delegate. Bless all who hold office in this Commonwealth of Virginia, that they may do their work in a spirit of wisdom, kindness, and justice. Help them to use their authority to serve faithfully and to promote the general welfare. We ask this in the name of the One who governs each one of us. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Barker, Blevins, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Edwards, Hanger, Herring, Houck, Howell, Hurt, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, McDougle, McEachin, Miller, J.C., Miller, Y.B., Newman, Norment, Northam, Obenshain, Puckett, Puller, Quayle, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Smith, Stolle, Stosch, Stuart, Ticer, Vogel, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple.

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Dr. Lawrence R. Chottiner, Salisbury Presbyterian Church, Midlothian, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Sovereign God, no matter where we gather or for what reason, You already are there to greet us, there to inspire us, there to trouble the waters of our consciences, there to direct us to walk on the paths of righteousness. As this body begins its work today stir in each a deep gratitude; for Your presence, written on the faces of each person who stands here now and on those being served and on those who have gone before and on those who will follow in the future. And then, raise up a deep reverence for the standing You give to each of us, members of the great parade of people to whom responsibility is given and from whom You seek responsibility to be exercised. You have given gifts for that purpose, and for the gifts You have showered upon these women and men, we pray that together they might be blended to Your honor and to Your praise.

And so, send Your blessings and You have. Send Your grace and You have. Send Your vision and You have.

As an expectant people, we pray to You, our God. Amen.

Almighty God, we rejoice that You are a Creator who invites us to pray to You for our concerns and celebrations. We rejoice that, as we speak to You, You listen to our prayers and that You respond with compassion and love according to Your will. We rejoice that we live in a nation where many people of faith look to You for guidance each day and worship You as the Sustainer of all life.

Faithful Creator, hear us now as we pray especially for our Commonwealth of Virginia and ask Your blessing on the Senate. As our governing officials plan the policies and programs of the state, remind them that You have called them to this ministry of caring. Help our Senators and others who govern to be guided by the principles of love, justice, and compassion as they make the decisions before them. Remind them to look to You in prayer for wisdom and to serve humbly as Your followers. Thank You for the willingness of our elected officials and their staffs to serve our state. Bless Virginia both this day and in the years ahead as we seek to be the people You have called us to be. In Your name we pray. Amen.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2008

The Senate met at 11:00 a.m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Daniel A. Goodall, Sr., Antioch Baptist Church and Richmond City Police Department, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

O give thanks to the Lord for He is good; for His steadfast love endures forever. Who can utter the mighty doings of the Lord or declare His praise? Happy are those who observe justice, who do righteousness at all times (Psalm 106: v. 1, v. 2).

O God, we thank You for being so good and merciful that You look beyond our faults and supply our needs.

O God, we thank You because You have blessed this Commonwealth and this great nation with a love of freedom and a thirst for justice. Lord, we need You now to shower down Your favor and blessing on this Senate.

O God, we pray that You would incline Your ear to them as they go about the task of providing leadership while making laws that will govern this Commonwealth. Guide them as they go about the task You have put before them. Let them not get caught in the snare of party politics, but unify them with a spirit of collaboration to make the best decisions for the citizens of Virginia. We pray for the care of their families as they serve in this General Assembly. We pray for their health and strength as they perform their duties.

In this month of the celebration of African-American history, we thank You, God, because You have brought us this far by faith and, by faith, we shall continue to press to the mark of freedom, justice, and unity.

We are mindful of our fellow citizens in uniform who serve on foreign and domestic soil. Keep them forever in Your care. And we give Your name the praise, honor and all the glory because You are worthy to be praised from the rising of the sun until the going down of the same. Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Michael McGee, Unitarian Universalist Church, Arlington, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Thomas Jefferson once said, "I trust there is not a young man now living in the United States who will not die a Unitarian." This shows that Jefferson was not a genius about everything. But our faith believes he was a genius when it came to his affirmation of reason as a partner to faith and his insistence on the separation of church and state. In this spirit let us pray:

God beyond all Gods, may we open our eyes to the web of existence that binds us all in an inextricable unity. May the truth that we are one move us to understand the sacredness of all living beings and of this great, beautiful Earth of ours. May this sense of sanctity open our hearts wide with a love and compassion for all of humanity no matter the color of skin, nationality, religion, or sexual orientation. May all be embraced as God's children and the Earth's miraculous creation.

In the spirit of unity and universal love, Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Barker, Blevins, Colgan, Cuccinelli, Deeds, Edwards, Hanger, Herring, Houck, Howell, Hurt, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, McDougle, McEachin, Miller, J.C., Miller, Y.B., Newman, Norment, Northam, Obenshain, Petersen, Puckett, Puller, Quayle, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Smith, Stolle, Stosch, Stuart, Ticer, Vogel, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Robert Turner, Westhampton Baptist Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, creator of this magnificent universe, You who reveal Yourself to each of us according to our ability to understand Your nature, You who are the source of our being and the voice of our individual and collective conscience, we ask that Your spirit of wisdom and truth be felt as we carefully consider what is best for the citizens of the State of Virginia. May we be as patient in listening to the views of others as we are passionate in the expression of our own. In the words of that great Virginia statesman, Thomas Jefferson, may we have a decent respect for the opinions of mankind. May we never stoop to that unreasoned arrogance that assumes that no one who disagrees with our position could ever be right. May we be dedicated to the fair consideration of those less fortunate Virginians whose voice is often muted by the clamor of the powerful, the privileged, and the well positioned. In all our deliberation may we be just, compassionate, efficient with our resources, and frugal with our revenues, and honestly seek to improve the well-being of every citizen of this great Commonwealth. And when at last, votes are solicited, tallied, and the results announced, help us to realize that without the proper acknowledgement of the minority vote the true merit of the majority would be impossible to access. May our every word and every deed be a means by which when asked by another where we are from we can respond with pride and not shame, I am a Virginian. These things we ask of You, the one who alone is worthy of our unconditional devotion, honor and love, the one in whose image we are created, and the one in whose hands our ultimate destiny is forever held, God Almighty, Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Barker, Blevins, Colgan, Deeds, Edwards, Hanger, Herring, Houck, Howell, Hurt, Locke, Lucas, Marsh, Martin, McDougle, McEachin, Miller, J.C., Miller, Y.B., Newman, Norment, Northam, Obenshain, Petersen, Puckett, Puller, Quayle, Reynolds, Ruff, Saslaw, Smith, Stolle, Stosch, Stuart, Vogel, Wagner, Wampler, Watkins, Whipple.

VIRGINIA:

In the Supreme Court of Virginia held at the Supreme Court Building in the City of Richmond on Wednesday the 6th day of February, 2008.

A vacancy having occurred in the office of judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit by the resignation of Judge Alfred M. Tripp, and the Court, pursuant to section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia of 1950, as amended, having secured information concerning the volume of business in the said circuit, is of opinion, for reasons stated in writing in the form of a report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of Virginia and filed herewith, that the amount of business of the Fourth Judicial Circuit makes the filling of the vacancy necessary. Accordingly, the Court doth certify that there is a necessity for filling the vacancy in the manner provided by law.

And it is ordered that a copy of this order, together with a copy of the report above referred to, be certified to the Governor of Virginia and to the General Assembly of Virginia.

A Copy,

SUPREME COURT OF VIRGINIA
100 North Ninth Street
Richmond, Virginia 23219-2334

February 6, 2008

Honorable Susan Clarke Schaar
Clerk of the Senate of Virginia
Patrick Henry Building, Room 2010
Richmond, VA 23219

Dear Ms. Schaar:

Section 17.1-511 of the Code of Virginia, as amended, provides that whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall not be filled until, after investigation, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the filling of the vacancy is or is not necessary. Judge Alfred M. Tripp, Judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, resigned from the bench on February 1, 2008, thereby creating a vacancy in the office of judge of that circuit.

The Fourth Judicial Circuit serves the City of Norfolk. The General Assembly has authorized nine circuit court judgeships for that circuit. The estimated 2007 population of the circuit was 236,092. Based on the information contained in the enclosed report, the Supreme Court of Virginia certifies that the vacancy should be filled in the manner prescribed by law.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Leroy Rountree Hassell, Sr.

The reading of the communications was waived.

The communications were referred to the Committee for Courts of Justice.

Dear Father in Heaven,

We thank and praise You for blessing us to live in the freedom of this democracy and for providing the officials You have gathered here to govern and lead us.

We ask You, O Lord, to be with each member of our State Senate this day. Grant that their deliberations and decisions would reflect the love and care that You desire for Your people. Help them to provide for the needs of all throughout our Commonwealth. Enable them to work together to solve the problems of life which our people face. Fill them with compassion and a will to serve.

Be with all who cast their ballot at the polls tomorrow. Guide them as they strive to select the person who they believe to be the best candidate from their Party to serve as our next President. Help us to vote with a conscience that is concerned with the welfare of all.

Bless our military wherever they may be this day, whether here in our Commonwealth or around the world. Especially watch over those who are in harms way. Help them to be an instrument of peace. Keep them in Your care and safely bring them home to us again.

Grant all who serve in our Senate wisdom to make sound and honorable decisions and give them courage to lead.

We ask all of this in the Name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend William B. Warrick, Williamsburg Community Chapel, Williamsburg, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, the generation of individuals who founded our nation, including the legislative body which sits in this hallowed place, was a generation who humbled itself under the hand of Almighty God. These forefathers acknowledged divine providence in the establishment of our nation. Against overwhelming odds they faced their challenges, relying upon the talents You had given them, as well as the resources of heaven. Guided by values, not only written on tablets of stone, but also on the tablets of men's hearts, they allowed their character to be shaped by truth, Your truth, and their choices to be made in the light of the God-given law illuminating their hearts. Your light still shines. Your voice still speaks, and there is no language on earth in which it is not heard. May the prologue of the past bring to the remembrance of these current legislators the undeniable reality that first and foremost character counts. In fact, Almighty God, in Your eyes it is the only thing that counts. May the decisions of this legislative body be in alignment with Your perfect will. May these men and women prove their own character realizing the impossibility of entirely pleasing their constituencies by instead making choices which please You. May time prove that these men and women were serving God as they served their fellowman. May our Commonwealth be a beacon of integrity for its people and the people of our nation, we ask in Your name, Almighty God, with our hearty, Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

Deacon Keith Fournier, Saint Benedict Catholic Church, Richmond, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Loving God, on this day when so many turn their attention to the meaning and truth of the goodness of human love, we pause to thank You for the depths of Your love for each one of us and those whom we serve in this elective office.

Lord, we pray for heavenly wisdom to discharge our office rightly, as good stewards of the resources of this Commonwealth and, most importantly, as representatives of the good people who elected us and entrusted this obligation of governance to us.

Lord, in promulgating human and positive laws, may we ever be mindful of Your Divine law, which informs it and gives it right direction. May we enact laws which recognize the dignity of every human life, at every age and stage; honor Holy Marriage and the family founded upon it; recognize our obligations to give a love of preference to the poor; and promote true and authentic peace and solidarity among the peoples.

Living God, You have fashioned us to love and to live our lives with one another and for one another. Please guide all of us who assemble as we undertake together in this body the high task of public service. May we be faithful men and women, representing all that is good and honorable and so be able to render an account to those who elected us and, most importantly, to You who are the Supreme governor of the whole earth. Amen.

Our Heavenly Father, we have gathered to give thanks and praise to You for this great Commonwealth that You have so richly blessed. We humbly ask You that we may always prove ourselves to be a people mindful of Your favor and delighted to do Your will. Bless our land with honorable endeavor. I thank You for the plan You have given to our leaders by which to govern our Commonwealth so that our destiny does not rest in the hands of one person. Father, I pray for those in authority. I therefore lift up our Senate to You. I pray that Your guidance will lead them to make laws that are just. I ask You to give them wisdom to make decisions that will strengthen and prosper our Commonwealth. I pray that they will make right decisions concerning the politics, social welfare, and the economics of our Commonwealth. I pray Heavenly Father, that this body will be motivated by Your hand and not by their own personal concerns. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness and in the day of trouble do not allow our trust in You to fail. Amen.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 2008

The Senate met at 12 m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Reverend Jonathan Falwell, Thomas Road Baptist Church, Lynchburg, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, we come to You today seeking Your continued protection over our great state and nation. We pray that You will bless us as You have done over the hundreds of years. We ask that You give guidance to the men and women who serve in this room, that You will guide their deliberations, discussions, and decisions that affect the people of the Commonwealth, not only today but for generations to come.

The Bible tells us that righteousness exalts a nation but sin is a reproach to any people. Today we seek Your forgiveness for the sins we have committed and ask You to help us to seek righteousness in all that we do. We pray for our President, our Governor and for our troops serving all around the world today. Keep them from harm as they serve our nation. We pray this prayer in Your precious name, Amen.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

The individualized program of services and housing supports shall be developed as described in Report Document 30 (2008) - "Auxiliary Grant Portability: A Report on the Feasibility of Restructuring Auxiliary Grants for Certain CSB Case Management Consumers." Eligibility criteria shall include Assisted Living Facility (ALF) residents displaced from AG-funded beds that close and may also include those for whom the services and housing supports would lead to reductions in higher-cost institutional care, and (i) whose needs are not being met by their current living arrangement, or (ii) who are living in localities without ALFs, or (iii) who are ready for discharge from a state hospital and are without access to an ALF placement. Applications for consumers not currently receiving auxiliary grants shall identify reductions in higher-cost institutional care that offset the cost of the portable auxiliary grant. The Secretary shall provide a report on the progress and outcomes of the program, including such cost offsets, to the Governor, the Chairmen of the House Appropriations and Senate Finance Committees, and the Joint Commission on Health Care, by October 1, 2009."

The Senate met at 11:00 a.m. and was called to order by Lieutenant Governor William T. Bolling.

The Very Reverend Dr. Donald D. Binder, Pohick Episcopal Church, Lorton, Virginia, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, on this day we pause to remember before You the birth of the Father of our Country, Your servant George Washington.

We thank You that when he was a child, You strengthened his spirit and taught him to walk in the ways of righteousness; that when he was a young man, You preserved his life in a hail of enemy fire; that when he became commanding general, You inspired him to persevere in the face of overwhelming odds; that when he was chosen President, You endowed him with the wisdom and sound judgment needed to nurture a young nation into adulthood.

Grant Your same divine favor upon our Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and the Senators and Delegates of this General Assembly, that as they pursue the People's Business, they may follow his example of selfless public service, acting as faithful stewards of the great legacy he has bestowed upon us.

And may we all find the grace to heed Your immortal call to love our neighbors as ourselves-and so foster for our Commonwealth, our nation, and our world the blessings of liberty and peace. Amen.
